10,000 Line Curbs as 500 Parade on Victory Day

10,000 WATCH AS 500 MARCH ON V-J DAY

Mansfield Soberly Celebrates First Anniversary of War's End.

By LARRY MURPHY

They marched again last night. In sober celebration of the victory won with bullets, guts and tears a year ago, approximately 500 Mansfield and Richland county veterans marched smartly along the streets of "home" again.

They were in uniform, but this time they were marching as civilians, citizen-soldiers who have traded the arm of war for the tools of peace.

An estimated 10,000 of their relatives, friends and neighbors watched this first annual "Victory Day" parade, lining every foot of the route of march from the Legion home over Mulberry, Fourth and Main streets to the square, where a formal retreat ceremony was performed.

Hearty rounds of applause echoed all along the line of march as uniformed veterans, representing all branches of service, and especially those who had been prisoners of war, passed by.

Silent Tribute.

For the most part though, the thousands of spectators indulged in little demonstration, reminded perhaps of the terrible cost of total victory which was so deliriously celebrated one year ago. A few wept openly. Most stood in silent tribute.

Overhead, in the sky, an army plane and several civilian planes roared, as if in salute to their comrades below.

Adding a dash of color to the ranks were war veterans of the Mansfield police department, who marched in police uniform, followed by war veterans of the fire department riding a ladder truck.

The three recruiting services, army, navy and marine, lent an added touch with their skillfully decorated staff cars, as did the Gold Star Mothers with their gaily bedecked float.

As in nearly every Mansfield parade, a gay note was injected. In the last division moved a brightly decorated pony and cart driven by a little girl, and followed by another girl on horseback.

Parade Disbands.

At the square the parade disbanded except for the massed colors which had led it, the color guard and the McVey Post Legion band and drum corps, all under

He's Good Talker, But Poor Thief

LOS ANGELES — (INS) — A radio expert was on his way to pep up the San Quentin prison broadcasts again today, but entirely against his own will.

He was John William White, jr., one-time known as "San Quentin 68558" and original announcer of the San Quentin radio programs.

Arrested on a burglary charge, White was returned to the state prison for violation of his 1944 parole. He commented: "Well, maybe I can put some life back in that show, anyhow."

LEAVES HOLY LAND PROBLEM UP TO BRITISH

Truman Turns Down Plan For U. S. to Participate; New Fight Brewing.

BULLETIN

JERUSALEM —(U.P.)— A second telephoned warning that the Jerusalem general postoffice was about to be blown up sent hundreds of employes scrambling from the building today and tied up communications for three hours.

LONDON — (AP) — Authoritative sources in the British government said today that the United States has refused to participate in the plan for dividing Palestine as recommended by a British-American cabinet committee of experts, leaving Britain to cope with the problem by herself.

President Truman made the United States decision known in a letter saying he could neither accept nor reject the plan at this time without "the support of the American people," these sources said.

Meanwhile armed British forces, variously estimated at 50,000 to 200,000 men, were held ready for possible trouble today following a broadcast by Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground Jewish organization, calling upon Palestine's Jews to revolt against the British.

Urges Unity.

The broadcast, made over a secret radio station, urged unification of Irgun, Hagana and the so-called "stern gang"—similar resistance organizations — into a

Drive Opens 550 Rooms To Area Workers

Approximately 550 rooms for Mansfield's new employes were secured by noon today while the civic committee, heading the campaign, hoped for 800 more rooms from householders who "have expressed interest" in the campaign.

Frank A. Berkey, general chairman of the committee's "Rent a Spare Room" drive, which opened last Friday in the city, said today he was "highly pleased with the success of the drive" and praised the efforts of the 40 women canvassers who are finishing coverage of the city today.

He said that the women reported that 800 persons in the city had requested cards on the "rent a room" drive. Reports from these sources, he added, are expected within a few days.

All those persons not reached in the drive, and who wish to rent spare rooms to incoming workers, were urged to call the U. S. Employment Service office, phone 4154-6

"The committee wishes to thank the hundreds of Mansfielders who have opened their homes to afford rooms for the city's much-needed new employes, and those persons who are now giving the problem consideration," Berkey added.

Boy Scouts of the area, more than 150 of them set off the drive last Friday by distributing letters of explanation to householders, were also thanked by the committee.

CHICAGO —(INS)— Chicago police and FBI agents intensified their search today for the assassins of James M. Ragen, sr., 65, wealthy head of a nation-wide racing information service who died as the result of complications from a shotgun wound.

Cubs August da Fifdeenth With Ids Ah-h-choos; Flying Ragweed Pollen Obens Hay Feber Sneezes

Hundreds of Mansfielders Start Their Annual Sniffling Period.

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Ah-h-h-CHOO! Bahdon us, bud it's August da fifdeenth!

In other words, it's supposedly the day when Old Man Ragweed shakes his hoary head and noses for miles around begin to prickle, tickle, drip and grow rosier.

The still sadder side of the hay fever picture is that there's little Mansfield's hundreds of sufferers can do but face it. They can't run away from pollen, say the experts.

Ragweed pollen can "hitch-hike" for tremendous distances on the wind. Some unsympathetic persons contend that the only safe place during the season is a stuffy room—no fresh air—no pollen—no sneezing.

Allergy specialists say no certain cure has been found in the past 15 years, although Mansfield physicians maintain that immunization treatments, given the year round, reduce the severity of the attacks.

While scores of Mansfielders just suffer it out until the first frost, there are persons like Aty. Marion D. Ward, O. P. Crouse and Ralph Andregg who have to leave the city for the clearer-air regions of the north. Both Crouse and Andregg have already left for Michigan and Ward expects to leave Aug. 20 for North Bay, Ontario, Canada.

Where It Isn't.

A survey, taken recently by large laboratories in the country, indicated that ragweed is almost totally absent in the Northwest coastal area. The lower Pacific coast, southern Florida shore, northern New England, parts of the Adirondacks, upper Michigan and eastern Canada are also good. The heaviest concentration of ragweed, chief cause of hay fever, is in the middle and lower Mississippi

Coal Bins May Bulge For Winter

Great Lakes Ports' Strike May Divert Fuel to Mansfield.

Mansfield coal dealers may soon have three or four weeks' supply of fuel ahead—all because of the strike on Great Lakes shipping.

"If the coal, tied up at Great Lakes now, is diverted to the dealers, it will be the first time a strike has helped us," one dealer said.

"If we get that extra coal, it will give us a supply three or four weeks ahead," another dealer added.

This turn of events in the coal supply situation was seen as a ray of hope by local dealers who said that supplies are a "little better" than last year, but still rigidly controlled by the Solid Fuels administration.

* * *

The Associated Press reported from Cleveland that coal which cannot be unloaded at lake ports will be reconsigned to industrial plants and retail coal yards such as those in Mansfield. This will help these consumers replenish short stockpiles, said Vaughn Thorne, secretary of the Ohio coal conference.

A spokesman for Cleveland strike headquarters predicted a "large majority" of the lake vessels would be idle within a few days.

Meanwhile, dealers here estimated that solid fuel users in Mansfield will be paying from 30 to 75 cents more per ton for coal this fall and winter as a result of hiked miners' wages and transportation rates.

Most of the increase will be on the higher-grade Virginia and Kentucky coal, the dealers said, with lower-grade Ohio coal averaging around 30 to 50 cents higher per ton.

All dealers said that coal was continuing to come to city yards "as scheduled" but that Solid Fuel Administration red tape had delayed applications for extra shipments.

Coal is still shipped on a limited basis to dealer trade. Allotments are based on previous years' supplies, the dealers said.

UNION SEEKS AID OF ALL LAKE SEAMEN

Maritime Workers Quit Jobs at Midnight When Efforts For Agreement Fail.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The CIO National Maritime Union threw picket lines around major ports on the Great Lakes today, calling upon all seamen to join a strike aimed at tying up the lake shipping industry within a few days, and halting the flow of iron ore, coal, grain and oil.

Union President Joseph Curran estimated the union's lake strength at 4,500 and strike headquarters predicted 4,000 to 5,000 other workers would join the walkout in support of the major issue, a shortened work week. The strike began at midnight after settlement efforts failed.

The ore and coal exchange said it would be one to two days before it would have a clear picture of the effects of the strike on vessels now afloat. About 260 bulk freighters, which carry chiefly ore and coal, have been in service as compared with 287 a year ago. Each bulk carrier has a crew of about 32 to 36, including licensed officers.

* * *

Threatens Tieups

Exchange officials noted that interruptions in coal loading at dock would involve the backing up of loaded freight cars and tie up railroad facilities.

Ore movement of 27,759,000 gross tons this season is running a little under pre-war averages, and coal shipments of 21,922,000 gross tons for the season to date are about 10 to 12 per cent under pre-war averages, the exchange said.

With the national steelmaking rate at 88 to 90 per cent of capacity, ore currently is being consumed at the rate of about 6,000,000 tons a month, and the Lake Superior ore office said current stockpiles are about 30,000,000 gross tons. A major problem of the industry, however, is to get sufficient ore down from the upper lakes to keep mills running while the lakes are closed by winter weather. From about November to April.

* * *

Sees Ships Idle

At strike headquarters a spokesman predicted a "large majority" of the lake vessels would be idle within a few days.

The tie-up of lake vessels was expected to have an almost immediate effect on coal producers, who last year shipped 3,800,000 tons of coal on the Great Lakes.

G. K. Mitchell, vice president of the New York Coal company, said in Columbus that continuation of the seamen's strike into next week would cause Ohio coal mines to begin shutting down.

An extended strike, he added, would be felt most seriously next winter. Then the coal producers, unable to fill needs of industries in the northwest before the navigation season closes, would have to resort to the long haul by rail.

This would tie up cars, in which there already is a shortage, and cut the supplies of industrial and residential consumers in Ohio and neighboring states.

SOCIAL AGENCY PLAN APPROVED

Citizen's Council Adopts Recommendation For Big Building Drive.

The Citizen's Council on Social Survey last night approved the first step in what is expected to be an $800,000 building program for five Mansfield social agencies.

Meeting in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms, the committee adopted a recommendation of its executive committee that the YMCA, YWCA, Friendly House, Girl Scouts and Salvation Army be invited to submit their building program plans and social activity program to the council along with estimates of what they feel they can obtain in individual fund raising campaigns.

Under the recommendation, the council would set up a schedule of drives and promises "a very substantial contribution" to be added to whatever the agency is able to raise by its own efforts.

Don Kirkpatrick, council chairman, announced that he would schedule a meeting between representatives of the council and of the social agencies within the next two weeks to explain the program in detail.

The council also recommended that a committee be set up to study the possibility of forming a permanent social agencies council in Mansfield to coordinate the planning and program of all social agencies.

AAF Reveals Test of Atom Defense Weapon

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Army Air Force headquarters revealed today that the only foreseeable defense against the atomic bomb has been tested.

The AAF described this weapon as "a heretofore secret guided missile, designed as a potential defense against possible attack by high-speed, high-altitude enemy aircraft."

It was stated previously that in the light of present knowledge that only defense against an airplane carrying an atomic bomb would be such a device.

An air force spokesman said that the missile's range and altitude were secret. The official announcement said merely that it "has been fired for the first time."

The AAF said:

"Known at 'gapa' (ground-to-air pilotless aircraft), these prototype projectiles are pencil-slim, 10-foot-long guided missiles which, when perfected, are expected to be capable of seeking out and destroying possible enemy weapons before they can reach their targets."

RAP CEILINGS

Spokesmen of Dairy Industry Call Prices 'Reasonable.'

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The dairy industry today urged the continued decontrol of dairy products to prevent "resurrection of the black market" and consumer shortages of milk, butter and cheese.

Spokesmen for milk producing, distributing and processing groups told the price decontrol board that current dairy prices were "reasonable" and that production increased since removal of price ceilings.

Charles W. Holman, of the National Cooperative Milk Producers federation, said that "renewed damage to production in the very areas where it is most needed is all that can be hoped from renewed control of fluid milk."

OFFICERS COMING HOME

YOKOHAMA — (AP) — Officers with 26 to 30 months service Aug. 31 have been instructed to report for passage home, the eighth army announced today.

WOULD COMPEL TRASH SERVICE

Commissioner Views Illegal Garbage Disposal as Health Hazard.

Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, said today he would ask city council to compel property owners to subscribe to the city's garbage collection service.

He said numerous persons who do not subscribe to the service dump garbage at illegal locations.

He said his office receives numerous calls from home owners wanting an inspector sent out to determine "how garbage got into my back yard."

"This constitutes just as much of a health hazard as improper sewage disposal which is controlled by law," he declared.

The commissioner said he agreed with Mayor Roy W. Vaughn's recommendation that garbage collection rates be increased.

"But I am also in favor of making garbage collections compulsory as a health safe-guard," Dr. Wild said.

Sanitation Supt. Al Strachan estimated that about one-fourth of the city's families have no garbage service or service that is inadequate.

Says Word 'Kill' Pounds In Brain

ATHENS—(AP)—Dr. C. H. Creed, superintendent of Athens State hospital, reported today that Mrs. Elizabeth Willie told psychiatrists she was driven to slay her husband because the words "kill, kill" kept pounding her brain.

Dr. Creed said that Mrs. Willie, who acknowledged slashing her husband to death with a rock Aug. 3, had been declared mentally ill by all doctors at the hospital. He added that a recommendation had been sent to Dr. Frank F. Tallman, state commissioner of mental hygiene, for the woman's admittance to Lima State hospital.

RED CHARGES RILE BYRNES

State Secretary Objects to 'Misrepresentations' of American Views.

PARIS — (INS) — Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Andrei Vishinsky of the Soviet Union locked horns today on the subject of reparations from defeated countries, with the American delegate objecting strenuously to repeated Russian "misrepresentations" of American views.

Byrnes also accused Russia of criticizing Italy simply because that nation has failed to fall into step with Moscow.

The United States secretary of state, speaking to the Paris peace conference amidst silence on the part of the Russian bloc, reminded his hearers of American generosity which in terms of billions "saved Europe and helped Russia in particular."

He emphasized that the United States seeks no reparations and repudiated Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's contention that America is seeking economic advantages in Italy and the Mediterranean. Byrnes said:

"Peace between the Allies cannot be furthered by ignoring the repeated representations levelled against America on this floor. We object to this misrepresentation of our viewpoints and our motives.

"We oppose making small nations the satellites of other states."

Inflation Fight Planned By CIO

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The CIO high command met today to draw up a program designed to combat inflation and restore price controls.

Several hundred union officials and members of state and local CIO councils were called to the capital for a special emergency conference to discuss inflation, prices, wages and taxes.

WARNING ISSUED

Administration Sees Demands For New Wage Hikes.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The price decontrol board today faced an administration warning that failure to restore price controls on essential food items would bring new demands for higher wages.

Chairman W. Willard Wirtz of the president's wage stabilization board said present government wage control policies will have to be revised unless price ceilings are restored on meat, grain and dairy products.

Unless the board acts, price curbs automatically will be restored Wednesday.

SWITCH TO AFL

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— Fifteen CIO locals switched their affiliations to the AFL today in protest against alleged communist control and domination in the 41,000-member United Furniture Workers Union.

SMASH RACKET

U. S., German Police Expose Counterfeiting Ring.

FRANKFURT — (U.P.) — American and German police reported jointly today the smashing of an international counterfeiting ring in which three U. S. war department employes were arrested in Frankfurt.

Authorities said the ring had headquarters in occupied Germany and its tenacles reached several European capitals. One official said that if all the leads in the case were followed, it would take every criminal investigator in the European theater.

Twenty-two Germans, one of whom was wanted by the French as a suspected war criminal, were arrested. They were accused of trafficking in counterfeit $50 bill and English pound notes.

Forest Fire Rages Across 1000 Acres

QUINCY, Calif. —(INS)— Fresh crews of fire-fighters were summoned today to take up the battle against a spectacular forest blaze which raged out of control in the Quincy area and burned over an estimated 1,000 acres of timberland.

A U. S. forestry service spokesman at Quincy said it was hoped that the fire could be brought under control some time today. Between 300 and 400 men are fighting the fire.

Rescue Plumber Trapped In Well

VERONA, Wis.—(INS)—A Verona plumber was rescued early today from a 25-foot well on a nearby farm after a cave-in left him trapped for a harrowing eight hours as 3,000 persons watched the drama.

Cold and shaken, Edward Henricks emerged from the debris of the well after rescue workers tore down three farm buildings and a windmill to tunnel to him.

Grassick, Bataan Hero, to Tell His Story for Jap War Crimes Trials

One of Mansfield's heroes of Bataan, Paul A. Grassick, was asked today by the army to give evidence about his treatment by the Japs for the coming war crimes trials in Tokyo.

The evidence will be submitted in a deposition, and it's not expected that Grassick, who was taken prisoner on Bataan, will be called to Japan to testify.

In response to an army request for evidence Paul, who is playing with his brother, William in a band at Carolina Beach, North Carolina, has asked his mother, Mrs. Alex Grassick, 331 East Fourth street, to send him the names of persons who were good to him during his imprisonment.

Mrs. Grassick said today Paul was submitting the names in an effort to reward those persons who had gone out of their way to give assistance to American prisoners.

Kept Prison Diary.

The names are in a diary he kept and include those of a doctor, a Catholic priest, and several nuns in the Philippines and a Japanese prison attendant in Japan, his mother said.

The doctor gave Paul a malaria shot shortly after the death march which he feels saved his life, Mrs. Grassick said. The Catholic priest and the nuns lived near Paul's prison camp and did everything possible to help the prisoners.

Paul is one of 2,661 former American prisoners to whom the War Crimes Branch of the Civil Affairs Division, War department, has written asking for information about their treatment by the Japs. He and other Ohio men who shared his fate have been asked to visit either a Federal district attorney's office or a Veterans' administration office to give testimony.

At the close of the concert, throngs of veterans, their families and guests jammed the veterans' clubs and later attended a dance at the Legion home.

Last night's "Victory Parade" and celebration was fostered by a group of 12 World War II veterans sharing a common belief that "V-Day" should be perpetuated as a day of celebration down through the years for all veterans regardless of organizational affiliation.

Serving on the "V-Day" committee for the initial annual celebration were Harlus R. Crichfield, William M. Colby, Fred Hallabrin, Robert E Rogers, Mary Jane Bellore, Albert L. Allen, George Herring, William Herrick, Dale Rowan, William Lucas, Albert Myers and Lawrence C. Murphy. An advisory committee included Ralph Hughes, D. A. McCullough and Herbert Gibbs.

Season Opens For Hay Fever

valley, but the weeds grow as far north as southern Michigan and completely engulf Ohio.

* * *

Mow 'em Down.

"A good lawnmover," is Dr W B. Wild's answer to the question "Can hay fever be prevented?"

"If weeds were cut before they pollinate, it would help a lot," the city-county health commissioner said.

Contending that empty lots in the city, often left unmowed throughout the summer, are "the worst offenders" of the hay fever season, Dr. Wild reiterated his suggestion made a couple of years ago:

"The city could notify empty lot owners in the city, say about July 1, that all lots would be mowed in two or three weeks. That way, it would give people a chance to mow their own lots and those lots which hadn't been mowed by the deadline could be mowed by the city. At least it would stop the pollen source in town."

Complain for Action.

Adding that the present system of cutting empty lots controls only an estimated half of the weed growth in the city, Dr Wild said:

"The way it's done now is by complaints. People call in and complain about an empty lot. Then we have to contact the owner and if he doesn't cut his weeds down, the city has to do it. This requires a lot of checking on ownership, etc., and we still don't get the results we'd like."

Dr. D. A Weir who said he cares for the "usual amount of hay fever victims treated by doctors in the city," said that immunization shots "are the best treatments found so far" for the troublesome allergy. These treatments consist of a series of shots in increasing amounts of the pollen to which an individual is allergic. By building up resistance within his body the sufferer becomes immune for varied periods.

Don'ts for Sufferers.

The physician added that the shots afforded only temporary relief and are not permanent cures. In other words if you're allergic it's just like having brown eyes and blond hair: there's nothing much you can do about it.

Hay fever victims, however, should not expose themselves unduly, the specialists say. Forms of exertion that cause rapid breathing should be avoided.

Here's some more "don'ts" for the sufferers of this season:

DON'T take long auto rides. Your lungs get in heavy pollenized areas.

DON'T stand in a wind. Pollen is often airborne.

DON'T think you can escape by going to the farm. Pollen is nearly everywhere except at the seashore.

In brief, DON'T hurry, DON'T become deeply, and DON'T pick ragweed.

Yours for a sneeze and good luck!

Death Ends Career of Man Who 'Smoothed' Mussolini

ROME — (UP) — The man who taught Mussolini how to use a knife and fork no longer graces the diplomatic parlors of Rome.

He was Mario Pansa, son of an Italian diplomat. He was drowned while bathing at the beach of Fiegene, close to Rome.

A crack polo player, a champion at clay pigeon shooting and an expert horseman Pansa grew up in the atmosphere of diplomacy while his father was ambassador to London and Berlin.

Always "dressed to kill," he was the prototype of a first-class diplomat.

When Mussolini seized the reins of the Italian government in 1922, the future dictator arrived in Rome dressed in a shabby black suit wearing white spats on brown shoes and celluloid cuffs, all topped by a canary-yellow straw hat.

It was too much for Mario Pansa a professed appreciator of the beautiful.

He immediately placed himself at Mussolini's charge to show him how to act in public. Neither a Fascist nor an anti-Fascist, the dapper Pansa groomed Mussolini, never asking for a political favor just so that Italy would not be headed by a man resembling a fruit vendor while traveling abroad or while posing in the critical focus of foreign news cameras.

Pansa took to his self-appointed task with a passion unbelievable. He taught the man who steered the destiny of 45,000,000 people that you must never bring a knife to fish, that you must use sugar prongs even when you are alone, and that it is much easier to invade a defenseless nation than to kiss a lady's hand deftly.

Tall, lean and handsome, Pansa was a typical lazy son of the Mediterranean. With no political ambitions, the cynical diplomat looked upon his scholars with contempt. They amused him.

He polished Mussolini with such tact and success that the Dictator entrusted the education of his favorite daughter, Edda, to him. When Edda married Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini offered both Ciano and Pansa the title of count. Ciano greedily accepted it, but Pansa refused.

A cultured student of Voltaire, Pansa died as he dreamed to die. He was drowned in the same sea where his favorite poet, Shelley, drowned about a century before him.

The broadcast also urged Jews to stop paying taxes to the Palestine government and turn the money over to the "Irgun Zvai Leumi war fund."

The broadcast was one of the first definite underground reactions to the deportation to the island of Cyprus of 1,000 European Jews who sought to enter Palestine without immigration certificates.

Its effect was to increase the tension that already gripped the Holy Land, as Arabs, British and Jews themselves nervously awaited an expected flare-up of violent extremist reaction to the deportation.

PEPPER SET TO FIGHT TRUMAN

Senator States Willingness to Accept Nomination For Presidency.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The deep split between conservative and liberal Democrats was spotlighted yesterday with a challenge to President Truman's party leadership from left-wing Sen. Claude Pepper, D., Fla.—who is willing to accept the presidential nomination himself.

Most political observers felt that Pepper's challenge presented no serious hurdle to Mr. Truman's renomination in 1948, which generally is considered to be as certain as anything in politics.

However, it did seem likely to strain further the uneasy coalition between Democratic southern conservatives and the more liberal followers of such men as Pepper and Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace. And any breakup of this coalition would hurt Mr. Truman's chances for reelection. Pepper, however, said he would support Mr. Truman if the president were renominated.

In a press conference called to discuss foreign issues, a barrage of questions from reporters prompted Pepper to fire his 1948 presidential shots and bid for left-wing support.

Caustically referring to what he considered to be repeated administration failure to cope with labor and foreign policy problems, Pepper urged that his party move farther toward the left. He declared that he would not "run away" from either a presidential or vice-presidential nomination.

Responding to reporters' questions, Pepper declared that while he would not actively seek a place on the national ticket, neither would he dodge an opportunity to make the race, furthermore, he asserted, Wallace would be an acceptable running mate "if the lightning should strike."

Plan $2,000,000 Cable Tramway

PALM SPRINGS, Calif.—(AP)—Winter vacationists at this sunny desert resort will be only 12 minutes away from skiing and snow sports when a $2,000,00 cable tramway project, now in the planning stages, is constructed to whisk passengers 6,000 feet up San Jacinto mountain, overlooking Palm Springs.

The tramway will be the longest and highest in the world, and will offer vacationists one of the most spectacular rides known—from a desert playground to a winter resort in only 12 minutes.

IN HOLLYWOOD, they call her the "Sea Senorita"—and there are plenty of "Si, Si's" when Olga San Juan, of Puerto Rico, asks if this style is becoming.—(International).

GAR's Coming Encampment Perhaps Will Be Final One

SEATTLE, Wash. —(AP)— The Grand Army of the Republic, its ranks cut to 86 members whose average age approximates 99 years, will hold what may be its last encampment in Indianapolis Aug. 25 to 30.

With each passing year thinning its ranks—15 veterans have died since the first of the year—the once huge veterans organization probably will be represented by less than the 13 members who attended the 79th encampment in Columbus, Ohio, last year. (The United Confederate Veterans held their last reunion in 1940).

There will be a parade and the United States Marine band—traditional at G. A. R. encampments. Commander - In - Chief Hiram R. Gale of Seattle, who will be 100 years old in November, probably will attend. Theodore A. Penland of Portland, Ore., junior vice commander-in-chief, also will try to be there.

The G. A. R. numbered more than 309,000 in its peak year in 1890, and its 86 survivors are not the only union veterans surviving. Probably there are as many more who do not belong to the organization.

Only one state, California, has as many as ten and a majority of the states have no surviving members.

The Ohio list of surviving members compiled by Secretary Cora E. Gillis as of Aug. 12:

John H. Grate, Atwater; John R. Bennett, Waynesfield; Hiram Conrad, Alliance; Porter Parker, Niles; Frederick Pfister, Cincinnati; Lewis Hieston, Pleasantville; Oakley H. Bailey, Alliance, and Theodore Witte, Dayton.

Penicillin Fails To Cure Leprosy

BOMBAY —(U.P.)— Among the conclusions reached by the Indian Council of the British Empire Leprosy Relief Association in its annual report for 1945 was that penicillin is of no value in the treatment of leprosy.

However, the report added that there are indications that some fungi other than penicillium notatum, the source of penicillin, may prove useful in the long fight against leprosy, and studies in that direction are being continued.

3—In Memoriam

IN MEMORY of Mrs. Minnie Hetler, who passed away 1 years ago today, Aug. 15, 1945.

Backward, turn backward Oh Time in your flight.
Mother come back from the echoless shore.
Over my heart, in the days that have flown.
No love like yours ever has shone.
No other worship abides and endures.
Faithful, unselfish and patient like yours.
None like a Mother can charm away pain
From the sick soul and the world weary brain.
Sadly missed by husband and children

STOCKS SWAY IN IRREGULAR PRICE WAVES

Market Shows Up and Down Trend About Noon After Quiet Opening.

NEW YORK — (INS) — The stock market turned irregular around noon today after a steady and quiet opening following a surprise walkout of stock exchange employes.

Although brokers reported business slowed because quotations had to be obtained directly from floor members, first hour volume was 250 000 shares vs. 150,000 in the same period on Tuesday.

In the second hour trading was spasmodic with the ticker standing still at intervals.

Rails showed strength large fractions were added to N. Y. Central. C. and O., and Baltimore and Ohio. Norfolk and Western jumped about 3 points.

In over-the-counter dealings Defaulted Rail common and preferred sagged to new lows. Large blocks of Defaulted Bonds on the board changed hands at sharply lower prices.

Steels continued to display a firm tone. Motors were steady along with rubbers and whiskey stocks. Schenley hit another new high on a fractional advance.

Among individual strong spots were Douglas Aircraft up more than 2 and Allied Chemical up a point. Westinghouse and Consolidated Edison were weak.

Other than rails, bonds were dull and steady. Curb stocks held firm.

Boy Bicyclist, 13, Hurt In Collision

Thirteen-year-old Ralph Bonanata, of 167 East Third street, suffered a broken right wrist last night when a bicycle he was riding collided with an unlighted construction barricade at Hedges street and Park avenue east.

A police report stated that the bicycle struck railroad ties which were serving as a barricade for a service station drive-way paving project. The boy, treated at General hospital and released, said the light on his bicycle was burning at the time.

VOTE ON WALL STREET STRIKE

Stock Exchange Proceedings Disrupted When Workers Leave Jobs.

NEW YORK —(AP)— An emergency meeting of the United Financial Employes, called in the Wall street district for the announced purpose of taking a strike vote, today threatened to delay New York Stock Exchange quotations and brought a concentration of police into the area.

The Exchange quotations finally were started on schedule, but the financial tickers carried a warning that there might be delays and omissions and that transactions might not be published in sequence.

Normal proceedings on the Stock Exchange floor were temporarily disrupted.

Special rules were hurriedly issued by exchange officials. They announced that the quotations bureau, from which transactions and prices are spread through the financial district and out across the country, would be closed for the time being

The Financial Employes Union is involved in a dispute with Harris Upham and company, a brokerage house which is a member of the exchange So many exchange workers affiliated with the union took time off to attend the strike vote meeting, however, that a period of emergencies was declared.

Special police lines were set up to handle the crush of union members around Oscar's restaurant, at the corner of Beaver and Williams streets

10,000 Line Curbs as 500 Parade on Victory Day

10,000 WATCH AS 500 MARCH ON V-J DAY

Mansfield Soberly Celebrates First Anniversary of War's End.

By LARRY MURPHY

They marched again last night. In sober celebration of the victory won with bullets, guts and tears a year ago, approximately 500 Mansfield and Richland county veterans marched smartly along the streets of "home" again.

They were in uniform, but this time they were marching as civilians, citizen-soldiers who have traded the arm of war for the tools of peace.

An estimated 10,000 of their relatives, friends and neighbors watched this first annual "Victory Day" parade, lining every foot of the route of march from the Legion home over Mulberry, Fourth and Main streets to the square, where a formal retreat ceremony was performed.

Hearty rounds of applause echoed all along the line of march as uniformed veterans, representing all branches of service, and especially those who had been prisoners of war, passed by.

* * *

Silent Tribute.

For the most part though, the thousands of spectators indulged in little demonstration, reminded perhaps of the terrible cost of total victory which was so deliriously celebrated one year ago. A few wept openly. Most stood in silent tribute.

Overhead, in the sky, an army plane and several civilian planes roared, as if in salute to their comrades below.

Adding a dash of color to the ranks were war veterans of the Mansfield police department, who marched in police uniform, followed by war veterans of the fire department riding a ladder truck.

The three recruiting services, army, navy and marine, lent an added touch with their skillfully decorated staff cars, as did the Gold Star Mothers with their gaily bedecked float.

As in nearly every Mansfield parade, a gay note was injected. In the last division moved a brightly decorated pony and cart driven by a little girl, and followed by another girl on horseback.

Parade Disbands.

At the square the parade disbanded except for the massed colors which had led it, the color guard and the McVey Post Legion band and drum corps, all under

He's Good Talker, But Poor Thief

LOS ANGELES — (INS) — A radio expert was on his way to pep up the San Quentin prison broadcasts again today, but entirely against his own will.

He was John William White, jr., one-time known as "San Quentin 68558" and original announcer of the San Quentin radio programs.

Arrested on a burglary charge, White was returned to the state prison for violation of his 1944 parole. He commented: "Well, maybe I can put some life back in that show, anyhow."

Truman Turns Down Plan For U. S. to Participate; New Fight Brewing.

BULLETIN

JERUSALEM —(U.P.)— A second telephoned warning that the Jerusalem general postoffice was about to be blown up sent hundreds of employes scrambling from the building today and tied up communications for three hours.

LONDON — (AP) — Authoritative sources in the British government said today that the United States has refused to participate in the plan for dividing Palestine as recommended by a British-American cabinet committee of experts, leaving Britain to cope with the problem by herself.

President Truman made the United States decision known in a letter saying he could neither accept nor reject the plan at this time without "the support of the American people," these sources said.

Meanwhile armed British forces, variously estimated at 50,000 to 200,000 men, were held ready for possible trouble today following a broadcast by Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground Jewish organization, calling upon Palestine's Jews to revolt against the British.

Drive Opens 550 Rooms To Area Workers

Approximately 550 rooms for Mansfield's new employes were secured by noon today while the civic committee, heading the campaign, hoped for 800 more rooms from householders who "have expressed interest" in the campaign.

Frank A. Berkey, general chairman of the committee's "Rent a Spare Room" drive, which opened last Friday in the city, said today he was "highly pleased with the success of the drive" and praised the efforts of the 40 women canvassers who are finishing coverage of the city today.

He said that the women reported that 800 persons in the city had requested cards on the "rent a room" drive. Reports from these sources, he added, are expected within a few days.

All those persons not reached in the drive, and who wish to rent spare rooms to incoming workers, were urged to call the U. S. Employment Service office, phone 4154-6

"The committee wishes to thank the hundreds of Mansfielders who have opened their homes to afford rooms for the city's much-needed new employes, and those persons who are now giving the problem consideration," Berkey added.

Boy Scouts of the area, more than 150 of them set off the drive last Friday by distributing letters of explanation to householders, were also thanked by the committee.

INTENSIFY SEARCH

CHICAGO —(INS)— Chicago police and FBI agents intensified their search today for the assassins of James M. Ragen, sr., 65, wealthy head of a nation-wide racing information service who died as the result of complications from a shotgun wound.

U. S., German Police Expose Counterfeiting Ring.

FRANKFURT — (U.P.) — American and German police reported jointly today the smashing of an international counterfeiting ring in which three U. S. war department employes were arrested in Frankfurt.

Authorities said the ring had headquarters in occupied Germany and its tenacles reached several European capitals. One official said that if all the leads in the case were followed, it would take every criminal investigator in the European theater.

Twenty-two Germans, one of whom was wanted by the French as a suspected war criminal, were arrested. They were accused of trafficking in counterfeit $50 bill and English pound notes.

Forest Fire Rages Across 1000 Acres

QUINCY, Calif. —(INS)— Fresh crews of fire-fighters were summoned today to take up the battle against a spectacular forest blaze which raged out of control in the Quincy area and burned over an estimated 1,000 acres of timberland.

A U. S. forestry service spokesman at Quincy said it was hoped that the fire could be brought under control some time today. Between 300 and 400 men are fighting the fire.

Cubs August da Fifdeenth With Ids Ah-h-choos; Flying Ragweed Pollen Obens Hay Feber Sneezes

Hundreds of Mansfielders Start Their Annual Sniffling Period.

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Ah-h-h-CHOO! Bahdon us, bud it's August da fifdeenth!

In other words, it's supposedly the day when Old Man Ragweed shakes his hoary head and noses for miles around begin to prickle, tickle, drip and grow rosier.

The still sadder side of the hay fever picture is that there's little Mansfield's hundreds of sufferers can do but face it. They can't run away from pollen, say the experts.

Ragweed pollen can "hitch-hike" for tremendous distances on the wind. Some unsympathetic persons contend that the only safe place during the season is a stuffy room—no fresh air—no pollen—no sneezing.

Allergy specialists say no certain cure has been found in the past 15 years, although Mansfield physicians maintain that immunization treatments, given the year round, reduce the severity of the attacks.

While scores of Mansfielders just suffer it out until the first frost, there are persons like Aty. Marion D. Ward, O. P. Crouse and Ralph Andregg who have to leave the city for the clearer-air regions of the north. Both Crouse and Andregg have already left for Michigan and Ward expects to leave Aug. 20 for North Bay, Ontario, Canada.

* * *

Where It Isn't.

A survey, taken recently by large laboratories in the country, indicated that ragweed is almost totally absent in the Northwest coastal area. The lower Pacific coast, southern Florida shore, northern New England, parts of the Adirondacks, upper Michigan and eastern Canada are also good. The heaviest concentration of ragweed, chief cause of hay fever, is in the middle and lower Mississippi

Coal Bins May Bulge For Winter

Great Lakes Ports' Strike May Divert Fuel to Mansfield.

Mansfield coal dealers may soon have three or four weeks' supply of fuel ahead—all because of the strike on Great Lakes shipping.

"If the coal, tied up at Great Lakes now, is diverted to the dealers, it will be the first time a strike has helped us," one dealer said.

"If we get that extra coal, it will give us a supply three or four weeks ahead," another dealer added.

This turn of events in the coal supply situation was seen as a ray of hope by local dealers who said that supplies are a "little better" than last year, but still rigidly controlled by the Solid Fuels administration.

* * *

The Associated Press reported from Cleveland that coal which cannot be unloaded at lake ports will be reconsigned to industrial plants and retail coal yards such as those in Mansfield. This will help these consumers replenish short stockpiles, said Vaughn Thorne, secretary of the Ohio coal conference.

A spokesman for Cleveland strike headquarters predicted a "large majority" of the lake vessels would be idle within a few days.

Meanwhile, dealers here estimated that solid fuel users in Mansfield will be paying from 30 to 75 cents more per ton for coal this fall and winter as a result of hiked miners' wages and transportation rates.

Most of the increase will be on the higher-grade Virginia and Kentucky coal, the dealers said, with lower-grade Ohio coal averaging around 30 to 50 cents higher per ton.

All dealers said that coal was continuing to come to city yards "as scheduled" but that Solid Fuel Administration red tape had delayed applications for extra shipments.

Coal is still shipped on a limited basis to dealer trade. Allotments are based on previous years' supplies, the dealers said.

UNION SEEKS AID OF ALL LAKE SEAMEN

Maritime Workers Quit Jobs at Midnight When Efforts For Agreement Fail.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The CIO National Maritime Union threw picket lines around major ports on the Great Lakes today, calling upon all seamen to join a strike aimed at tying up the lake shipping industry within a few days, and halting the flow of iron ore, coal, grain and oil.

Union President Joseph Curran estimated the union's lake strength at 4,500 and strike headquarters predicted 4,000 to 5,000 other workers would join the walkout in support of the major issue, a shortened work week. The strike began at midnight after settlement efforts failed.

The ore and coal exchange said it would be one to two days before it would have a clear picture of the effects of the strike on vessels now afloat. About 260 bulk freighters, which carry chiefly ore and coal, have been in service as compared with 287 a year ago. Each bulk carrier has a crew of about 32 to 36, including licensed officers.

* * *

Threatens Tieups

Exchange officials noted that interruptions in coal loading at dock would involve the backing up of loaded freight cars and tie up railroad facilities.

Ore movement of 27,759,000 gross tons this season is running a little under pre-war averages, and coal shipments of 21,922,000 gross tons for the season to date are about 10 to 12 per cent under pre-war averages, the exchange said.

With the national steelmaking rate at 88 to 90 per cent of capacity, ore currently is being consumed at the rate of about 6,000,000 tons a month, and the Lake Superior ore office said current stockpiles are about 30,000,000 gross tons. A major problem of the industry, however, is to get sufficient ore down from the upper lakes to keep mills running while the lakes are closed by winter weather. From about November to April.

* * *

Sees Ships Idle

At strike headquarters a spokesman predicted a "large majority" of the lake vessels would be idle within a few days.

The tie-up of lake vessels was expected to have an almost immediate effect on coal producers, who last year shipped 3,800,000 tons of coal on the Great Lakes.

G. K. Mitchell, vice president of the New York Coal company, said in Columbus that continuation of the seamen's strike into next week would cause Ohio coal mines to begin shutting down.

An extended strike, he added, would be felt most seriously next winter. Then the coal producers, unable to fill needs of industries in the northwest before the navigation season closes, would have to resort to the long haul by rail.

This would tie up cars, in which there already is a shortage, and cut the supplies of industrial and residential consumers in Ohio and neighboring states.

SOCIAL AGENCY PLAN APPROVED

Citizen's Council Adopts Recommendation For Big Building Drive.

The Citizen's Council on Social Survey last night approved the first step in what is expected to be an $800,000 building program for five Mansfield social agencies.

Meeting in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms, the committee adopted a recommendation of its executive committee that the YMCA, YWCA, Friendly House, Girl Scouts and Salvation Army be invited to submit their building program plans and social activity program to the council along with estimates of what they feel they can obtain in individual fund raising campaigns.

Under the recommendation, the council would set up a schedule of drives and promises "a very substantial contribution" to be added to whatever the agency is able to raise by its own efforts.

Don Kirkpatrick, council chairman, announced that he would schedule a meeting between representatives of the council and of the social agencies within the next two weeks to explain the program in detail.

The council also recommended that a committee be set up to study the possibility of forming a permanent social agencies council in Mansfield to coordinate the planning and program of all social agencies.

AAF Reveals Test of Atom Defense Weapon

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Army Air Force headquarters revealed today that the only foreseeable defense against the atomic bomb has been tested.

The AAF described this weapon as "a heretofore secret guided missile, designed as a potential defense against possible attack by high-speed, high-altitude enemy aircraft."

It was stated previously that in the light of present knowledge that only defense against an airplane carrying an atomic bomb would be such a device.

An air force spokesman said that the missile's range and altitude were secret. The official announcement said merely that it "has been fired for the first time."

The AAF said:

"Known at 'gapa' (ground-to-air pilotless aircraft), these prototype projectiles are pencil-slim, 10-foot-long guided missiles which, when perfected, are expected to be capable of seeking out and destroying possible enemy weapons before they can reach their targets."

Rescue Plumber Trapped In Well

VERONA, Wis.—(INS)—A Verona plumber was rescued early today from a 25-foot well on a nearby farm after a cave-in left him trapped for a harrowing eight hours as 3,000 persons watched the drama.

Cold and shaken, Edward Henricks emerged from the debris of the well after rescue workers tore down three farm buildings and a windmill to tunnel to him.

RAP CEILINGS

Spokesmen of Dairy Industry Call Prices 'Reasonable.'

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The dairy industry today urged the continued decontrol of dairy products to prevent "resurrection of the black market" and consumer shortages of milk, butter and cheese.

Spokesmen for milk producing, distributing and processing groups told the price decontrol board that current dairy prices were "reasonable" and that production increased since removal of price ceilings.

Charles W. Holman, of the National Cooperative Milk Producers federation, said that "renewed damage to production in the very areas where it is most needed is all that can be hoped from renewed control of fluid milk."

OFFICERS COMING HOME

YOKOHAMA — (AP) — Officers with 26 to 30 months service Aug. 31 have been instructed to report for passage home, the eighth army announced today.

WOULD COMPEL TRASH SERVICE

Commissioner Views Illegal Garbage Disposal as Health Hazard.

Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, said today he would ask city council to compel property owners to subscribe to the city's garbage collection service.

He said numerous persons who do not subscribe to the service dump garbage at illegal locations.

He said his office receives numerous calls from home owners wanting an inspector sent out to determine "how garbage got into my back yard."

"This constitutes just as much of a health hazard as improper sewage disposal which is controlled by law," he declared.

The commissioner said he agreed with Mayor Roy W. Vaughn's recommendation that garbage collection rates be increased.

"But I am also in favor of making garbage collections compulsory as a health safe-guard," Dr. Wild said.

Sanitation Supt. Al Strachan estimated that about one-fourth of the city's families have no garbage service or service that is inadequate.

Says Word 'Kill' Pounds In Brain

ATHENS—(AP)—Dr. C. H. Creed, superintendent of Athens State hospital, reported today that Mrs. Elizabeth Willie told psychiatrists she was driven to slay her husband because the words "kill, kill" kept pounding her brain.

Dr. Creed said that Mrs. Willie, who acknowledged slashing her husband to death with a rock Aug. 3, had been declared mentally ill by all doctors at the hospital. He added that a recommendation had been sent to Dr. Frank F. Tallman, state commissioner of mental hygiene, for the woman's admittance to Lima State hospital.

ON NATIONAL COMMITTEE

MIDDLETOWN —(AP)—Thomas Galeese, treasurer of the Butler county Democratic central and executive committees, has been appointed a member of the national finance committee of the party. The committee is to meet in Columbus Monday.

RED CHARGES RILE BYRNES

State Secretary Objects to 'Misrepresentations' of American Views.

PARIS — (INS) — Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Andrei Vishinsky of the Soviet Union locked horns today on the subject of reparations from defeated countries, with the American delegate objecting strenuously to repeated Russian "misrepresentations" of American views.

Byrnes also accused Russia of criticizing Italy simply because that nation has failed to fall into step with Moscow.

The United States secretary of state, speaking to the Paris peace conference amidst silence on the part of the Russian bloc, reminded his hearers of American generosity which in terms of billions "saved Europe and helped Russia in particular."

He emphasized that the United States seeks no reparations and repudiated Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's contention that America is seeking economic advantages in Italy and the Mediterranean, Byrnes said:

"Peace between the Allies cannot be furthered by ignoring the repeated representations levelled against America on this floor. We object to this misrepresentation of our viewpoints and our motives.

"We oppose making small nations the satellites of other states."

Inflation Fight Planned By CIO

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The CIO high command met today to draw up a program designed to combat inflation and restore price controls.

Several hundred union officials and members of state and local CIO councils were called to the capital for a special emergency conference to discuss inflation, prices, wages and taxes.

WARNING ISSUED

Administration Sees Demands For New Wage Hikes.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The price decontrol board today faced an administration warning that failure to restore price controls on essential food items would bring new demands for higher wages.

Chairman W. Willard Wirtz of the president's wage stabilization board said present government wage control policies will have to be revised unless price ceilings are restored on meat, grain and dairy products.

Unless the board acts, price curbs automatically will be restored Wednesday.

SWITCH TO AFL

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Fifteen CIO locals switched their affiliations to the AFL today in protest against alleged communist control and domination in the 41,000-member United Furniture Workers Union.

Grassick, Bataan Hero, to Tell His Story for Jap War Crimes Trials

One of Mansfield's heroes of Bataan, Paul A. Grassick, was asked today by the army to give evidence about his treatment by the Japs for the coming war crimes trials in Tokyo.

The evidence will be submitted in a deposition, and it's not expected that Grassick, who was taken prisoner on Bataan, will be called to Japan to testify.

In response to an army request for evidence Paul, who is playing with his brother, William in a band at Carolina Beach, North Carolina, has asked his mother, Mrs. Alex Grassick, 331 East Fourth street, to send him the names of persons who were good to him during his imprisonment.

Mrs. Grassick said today Paul was submitting the names in an effort to reward those persons who had gone out of their way to give assistance to American prisoners.

Kept Prison Diary.

The names are in a diary he kept and include those of a doctor, a Catholic priest, and several nuns in the Philippines and a Japanese prison attendant in Japan, his mother said.

The doctor gave Paul a malaria shot shortly after the death march which he feels saved his life, Mrs. Grassick said. The Catholic priest and the nuns lived near Paul's prison camp and did everything possible to help the prisoners.

Paul is one of 2,661 former American prisoners to whom the War Crimes Branch of the Civil Affairs Division, War department, has written asking for information about their treatment by the Japs. He and other Ohio men who shared his fate have been asked to visit either a Federal district attorney's office or a Veterans' administration office to give testimony.

SINO-SOVIET PACT COSTLY FOR CHINESE

Nations Have Little Hope of Friendship While Civil War Rages.

NANKING—(AP)—One year ago today the Sino-Soviet treaty of friendship and alliance was signed in Moscow—and in that year relations have remained far from either the letter or the spirit of that pact.

Chinese leaders — who contend that they signed the 30-year agreement giving Russia great concessions in Manchuria only because of pressure from other United Nations—say freely that they consider Moscow has violated the agreement almost from the day it was signed.

There is no doubt that relations between the two countries have grown worse rather than better, principally because of the continuing battling between Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government and the Chinese Communists.

Signs of Friction.

The latest indication of friction was a Russian effort to bar China from participation in the Paris peace conference as a sponsoring nation.

Two major accusations are made against Soviet forces which occupied Manchuria:

1. That Russians looted Manchurian industry of all moveable equipment during the prolonged Soviet occupation, and thereby robbed the country of its opportunity for rapid recovery from the havoc of eight years of war.

2. That the Soviet occupation forces permitted infiltration of Chinese Communist armies into Manchuria, and allowed the seizure of vast arsenals and supply dumps by Chinese Communist forces.

Despite the treaty of friendship, there is little expectation here that China and Russia can become good neighbors until the Chinese Communist question is settled.

Give Moral Aid.

There is no direct evidence that Russia is giving the Chinese Communists any physical support whatever. But evidence does exist in many forms that the Chinese Reds have the complete moral support of Moscow. That fact plays an important part in every move toward settlement of China's civil strife, since each side is shaping policies with one eye open for possible repercussions from that northern neighbor.

Communist propaganda activities in China are closely geared to those of Moscow. An anti-American campaign from Yenan recently was followed quickly by a similar Moscow outcry against "American intervention" in China.

Chinese also are expressing grave concern nowadays over two questions specifically covered by the Sino-Soviet treaty — Dairen and Port Arthur.

By the treaty terms, Dairen becomes a free port under Chinese government supervision, while Port Arthur becomes a closed naval base shared equally by Russians and Chinese, with a commission of three Soviets and two Chinese supervising it.

But, Chinese complain, Russian forces continue to occupy and control Dairen a year after the treaty was signed, and Chinese military and naval units still are completely barred from closely guarded Port Arthur.

Must Share Railroad.

Under the treaty, too, the Chinese must share with Russia the Changchun railroad (formerly the Chinese Eastern railway, from central Manchuria to Suifenho on the Siberian border, and from Harbin to Dairen and Port Arthur). So these Chinese observers consider that the treaty cost them not only sovereignty over Dairen and Port Arthur, but also Manchuria's railways.

In return, they got—in advance—a brief participation by Russia in the war against Japan. And the unspoken tag add bitterly was Chinese Communist domination of Manchuria.

Nevertheless all Chinese leaders agree, China will live up to the agreement.

"There are many regrets over the treaty," one source here explained, "but we signed in good faith and we intend to do everything possible to fulfill its provisions."

Up-to-Date Version: When You Say That -- Use Your Modiolus!

By ROBERT RICHARDS

NEW YORK—(UP)—It's always smart to use your head — but smarter to use your modiolus.

The modiolus made Ingred Bergman what she is today, if you listen to Dr. James F. Bender, and it didn't do any damage to Bing Crosby.

"It's always there," explained Bender, director of the National Institute of Human Relations. "Everybody's got it, but only a few people use it correctly."

And the modiolus, correctly used, carries the calculated wham of an atomic blast.

The modiolus is the main muscle supporting the smile. It takes the heaviest strain when you give out with a big hello, or spread your pearly teeth before a crowd.

"It's chief job is to control the precision and accuracy of human lip movements," Bender said. "Why, it's one of the chief differences between us and the ape."

The ape, it seems, operates minus the air of a perfected modiolus. When he grins—or so Bender claims—he forms a labial box, known to the trade as the "os quadratus," and even Bob Hope looks better.

Bender said there are approximately 12 muscles controlling the smile, among them the zygomaticus, risorius, mentalis, and orbicular oris. You can take it on from there.

"Develop them, and you develop your smile," he said. "And nothing gets a man a job faster."

But, even if your modiolus is as well developed as a starlet's chest it doesn't mean a thing unless you grew up with a happy mother.

"Unhappily, frustrated mothers have done more to ruin smiles in this country," Bender said, "than the car shortage or the seven year itch."

A baby looks at mama all day, and unless she gives out with the contented sunshine he grows up with the idea that it's a sour world. "And this always shows up in his smile," Bender said.

He claims that President Truman, Gen. Ike, and movie censor boss Eric Johnston all have friendly grins because they learned how from happy mothers.

"Women have the inside track on smiling anyhow," Bender explained. "Their muscles get more exercise because they're constantly talking."

Some women use only the corners of their mouth in a smile, while others use the upper or lower lip when they say hello.

But the gal to watch—Bender warns—is the one who fetchingly curls her lips in the middle.

When that happens, son, she knows how to mix sex appeal with her modiolus.

AAA PAYMENTS TOTAL $588,673

1,400 Richland Farmers Paid $570,917 in Butterfat and Milk Subsidies.

Richland county farmers received $588,673 63 in dairy, beef, sheep and lamb subsidy payments during the lifetime of the program, Guy L. Taylor, chairman of the county AAA office, reported today.

Milk and butterfat payments to 1 400 farmers amounted to $570,917 57. Of this amount, $244,306.16 was paid in 1945 on milk with payments ranging from 25 to 70 cents a hundredweight and butterfat payments from 10 to 17 cents a pound.

During 1944, the only other full year in which payments were made, $182 431 33 was received. The rates varied from 35 to 70 cents a hundredweight on milk and from 5 to 11 cents a pound on butterfat.

For the three months following the start of the program in October, 1943, $23,361 40 was paid in milk subsidies at 35 cents a hundredweight and butterfat at 4 cents a pound.

During the closing six months of the program in 1946, $120,815 68 was paid. Milk payments ranged from 45 to 60 cents and butterfat from 15 to 17 cents a pound. Some payments are still to be made, Taylor said.

Five hundred and ten Richland county farmers received $13,991 06 under the sheep and lamb subsidy program which began Aug 5, 1945.

The beef subsidy program that began May 19, 1945 and ended June 5, 1946, netted approximately 25 county farmers $3 765.

CHECKS MAILED

Farmers Receive $54,004 For Soil Building.

Payments numbering 1,373 and amounting to $54,004.62 have gone out to Richland county farmers for soil building practices carried out during 1945, Guy L. Taylor, chairman of the county AAA office, announced today.

Additional checks for 1945 payments will be issued.

Taylor listed some of the more common soil building practices for which payments were made, as establishing and maintaining contour strip-cropping, preparation of non-crop open pastures for reseeding, mowing weeds, sowing green manure crops, harvesting hayseed, planting trees for forest or gully control or as windbreaks and using lime and fertilizers.

Mansfield Soap Box Champ Leaves Tomorrow for Akron

Mansfield's Marlin Kindinger is eagerly awaiting the national finals of the Soap Box Derby "greatest amateur racing event in the world," on Akron's famous Derby Downs Sunday afternoon.

Since winning the fifth News-Journal Derby two weeks ago, Kindinger has been tuning up his sleek grey-silper "Marlin Special" to the nth degree

A four-year college scholarship to any school in the country is the top award in the Akron races.

Defeated Field of 49.

Kindinger's classy coaster creation was easily the top racer among the 49 cars that competed on Derby Hill (South Main street road near Chilton avenue) two weeks ago. He romped home with 15 prizes, including the all-expenses-paid trip to the national finals.

The 15 year-old youngster starts for Akron tomorrow morning but his streamlined racer left for the Rubber city today.

Kindinger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Powell, Lincoln Heights, took the "Special" to Akron where it will be displayed at the McNeil Chevrolet company along with racers of 114 other local champions.

Champ Rides Jeep.

Don Cram, Mansfield Derby Director, will accompany Kindinger to Akron. They will make the trip in a Jeep donated by Willys Jeep Sales and Service, East Third Third street. The Jeep is scheduled to leave the News-Journal at 7 a. m.

The Mansfield party will be quartered at the Mayflower hotel in Akron. Upon arrival Kindinger will join the whirl of activities that are planned for all of the local champions. Included will be picnics, banquets, swimming parties and a big parade.

All of the Soap Box Derby kings will march in Akron's Rubber Bowl, Saturday night between halves of a bantam football game. A huge fireworks display is also on schedule.

Trial Runs.

Each of the Derby drivers will be taken to the smooth Derby Downs racing strip Saturday afternoon for a trial run.

Kindinger and his "pit crew" attended the Akron finals last Sunday and they are high on the chances for the Mansfield coaster. Marlin's brother, Gene, won the 1939 Mansfield Derby and made a strong showing at Akron before bowing out.

The News-Journal, Brandenburg Chevrolet company and YMCA sponsored the local Derby.

Hidden Hollow Chalks Up Record Attendance Mark

Hidden Hollow, summer camp for Friendly House settlement, closes another season Saturday under Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Gimbel with a record attendance of 289 different boys and girls chalked up.

Operated for eight weeks each summer, the camp annually affords hundreds of children their only opportunity to live and play away from hot and dirty city streets.

A carefully planned program of supervised recreation is carried out each season by the Gimbels. It includes games of all kinds, crafts and hobbies, swimming and this year horseback riding on ponies provided by camper Tom-mie Nedrow.

* * *

Other Attractions.

Other added attractions this year were a weekly daytime party provided by Walter Berry whose farm adjoins the Hidden Hollow camp; weekly hikes and night trips to the "Hermit's cave" and a special events day each Wednesday.

Among special programs held this year were Pioneer Day when the camp's custom was revived; "Red Nations Festival" commemorating the Fourth of July; "Circus Day"; "Pirate Day" a "South American Fiesta" "In-dia Day," "Day of Apparitions" and "Victory Day."

On "Victory Day," celebrated at camp Aug. 14, campers were divided into groups representing the branches of service, including army, navy, marines, and air force. The girls at camp were nurses in the four branches.

'General Ike' Proclaimed.

Camper Jimmy Foss was chosen to act as "General Ike" to review the initial parade of the day at camp and the "setting up exercises" opening the day's activities.

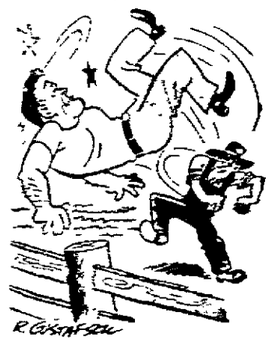
The remainder of Hidden Hollow camp's "V-Day" celebration included a "proclamation" read by "General Ike" who greeted the campers and reviewed the parade. Scam relay, squad drills and other activities for which prizes were awarded for participants making the highest scores.

"V-Day" ceremonies were closed at the evening camp fire at which all four branches presented a dramatic skit.

Scheduled for the remainder of the final week are a mystery hike and party that night on Thursday, closing of the camp will at a campfire on Friday and curtain on the camp will with a ceremony of all campers on Saturday.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf



The strong man of a one-ring circus billed himself as "Hercules Junior," and was powerfully put out when he heard that a local farmer had boasted he could break Hercy in two.

He took one of the two big white horses from the ring and rode out to the farmer's house. "What kind of hooey have you been spreading about me, you runt?" he bellowed.

The farmer didn't say a word. He just grabbed the intruder, hurled him bodily over the fence, and went back to his work.

Hercules picked himself up, and gazed ruefully at the farmer. "Ain't you had enough?" called the latter. "Or have you something more to say?"

"No," admitted Hercules. "But maybe you'll be kind enough to throw me my horse."

An eagle-eyed mortician noticed an old crone shuffling away from a funeral service at his parlor and asked her how she was. "Ill," cackled the old lady proudly. "Well, well," said the mortician suavely. "Hardly worth going home, is it?"

Glass Stainer Active at 80

BOSTON—(AP)—Dean of the art of creating stained-glass windows is probably Stephenson Thomas C. Murphy, who still is active in his studio in Boston's south end.

Murphy planned to retire several years ago, as soon as he finished a set of windows for St. Mary's church in Lynn. But the church burned before the windows were finished. So the windows remain in Murphy's studio and he's just never gotten around to getting another retirement date.

He has stained windows for a number of churches of all denominations in greater Boston. Although a Catholic himself Murphy believes that everyone is entitled to his own opinions and makes a thorough study of others' opinions before doing a window for them. In 64 years of business he has entered over $1,000,000 worth of windows.

A native of Nova Scotia, Murphy came to the United States at the age of seven and was apprenticed at the age of 16 to Donald McDonald, Boston stained glass worker. He later worked for and finally inherited the firm of Samuel West. Established in 1847, the firm was one of the oldest stained glass businesses in the country.

Murphy works hard at his craft—10 hours a day according to his daughter and bookkeeper, Doris Murphy—and he is just as energetic in defending the type of work he does. Murphy is a follower of the 15th-century school of stained glass craftsmen. He contends that this style, "humanistic naturalistic and full of color is best suited to bring out the story of Christianity so all may get the emotional impact." Many so-called modernists in stained glass work today have gone back to the flat mosaic patterns of the 13th-century craftsmen, using the primary colors.

REVISED ON-JOB TRAINING BILL EXPLAINED BY VA

Veterans With Dependents May Draw Up to $200 For Subsistence.

Provisions of the recently revised on-the-job training section of the Servicemen's Readjustment act (GI Bill) were explained today by the Veterans' administration office in Cleveland.

The bill, requested by Gen. Omar N. Bradley and signed last week by the president, prohibits subsistence payments in excess of $200 a month to veterans with dependents, or $175 if they have no dependents while studying or training under the GI bill.

The provision applies regardless of whether the veteran's wages come from on-the-job training or from outside work while enrolled in school, the administration office said It affects only veterans and establishments involved in the GI bill, not disabled veterans enrolled under the Vocational Rehabilitation act (Public Law 16).

How It Works.

The new provision, the office added, will mean a cut in the subsistence allowances of some veterans in on-the-job training. However, it will permit students in either full-time or part-time school courses to work on the side and receive their allowances, within the $175 and $200 limits set.

Here is the way the provision will work, according to the office:

If the veteran is not earning more than $110, he can receive his full subsistence allowance. If he is making between $110 and either $175 or $200, depending on whether he has dependents or not, he can receive enough of the allowance to bring his total income up to this maximum. If he is already getting the $175 or $200, he will not receive any allowance from the VA. All payments are subject to the limitation that the total amount received by the trainee shall not exceed his pay when he reaches his job objective.

Monthly checks will not be delayed because of the bill. Aug. 31 checks will give veterans the same amount they have been entitled to before the new bill was passed.

Veterans were warned, however, that if they are subject to the cut in allowances, they will owe some of their check to the government and over a reasonable period of time will be expected to return it.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO THURSDAY, AUGUST 15, 1946

Some folks who "save up for a rainy day" seem to think that a slight sprinkle justifies a spending spree.

It is peanut time in the Deep South—which may account for the fulminations of some of the politicians of that variety.

Several prospective passengers on that projected first rocket to the moon are now beginning to inquire about the return trip accommodations.

Minority Domination Detrimental

A GROUP of 37 economists, engineers and educators recently sent President Truman an open letter urging him to call a new labor-management conference. They believe the present trends of labor, management and government policies are all unsound, that some way must be found to stop the "slugging-it-out" method of making adjustments.

These compulsions, says the letter, are necessary for success: Wages must be increased as production increases; the consumer must share in prosperity with lower prices; there must be definite rules, closely followed, and there must be teamwork of labor, management and other economic groups.

These conditions are being transgressed by all groups, the letter says. Strikes are "symptoms of disease," a "crude and ineffective way of making economic adjustments." Conditions have changed greatly since labor first started to organize, and a strike in those earlier times did not mean disaster to its community or the nation.

"Labor's thoughtless use of strikes on a national scale, management's irresponsible use of strikes against the consumer, and efforts of lawmakers to regulate conduct by legislation will assiduously undermine collective bargaining," the message reads. "The principal progress which differentiates democracy from fascism is collective bargaining."

"Neither labor nor management should seek to dominate the industry; the good of the industry must dominate each. What is good for the industry, will, in the last analysis, be determined by what is good for the nation as a whole."

Such a well balanced statement of what must be regarded as a temporarily intolerable clash of interests merits thoughtful consideration.

There was a long time in the past when labor was required to make too many sacrifices in the upbuilding of huge fortunes for a favored few. Now it appears that a majority of the people are being required to sacrifice too greatly in meeting the demands of organized labor. What needs be found is a common ground on which to build for the betterment of all the people of this great country.

Meeting Cost of Garbage Collection

DISCLOSURE by Mayor Vaughn that Mansfield's garbage collection service is being operated at a considerable loss does not come as a surprise to those who have some knowledge of the increased work of this department and the heavy burden of ash collection, which was unanticipated when the weekly charge was originally set.

If, as is suggested, this service is to be made self-sustaining, there can be no avoiding of an increase in the charge to users, but there is the alternative—as practiced in a number of cities—of considering garbage collection from all homes as a part of municipal service and meeting the cost from general taxation rather than from a special assessment.

This has the advantage of placing garbage collection on a city-wide basis, rather than confining it to families that voluntarily pay for this service, and does away with the nuisance of garbage disposal in other ways, such as burning, burying, throwing it in an alley, or taking it out in a car and dumping it along the road.

While an increase has been reported in subscribers to garbage collection service, the total still falls far short of the number of families that must dispose of garbage in some way, and it would seem advisable, while the subject is being discussed, to endeavor to hit upon a plan that would assure collection of garbage from all homes, in all parts of the city, instead of only from those whose occupants are able and willing to pay the charge made for this service.

Many Hospitals Short of Nurses

HOSPITALS have entered a new period of hard times due to shortage of nurses. During the war they struggled along with short staffs while the armed forces needed so many nurses overseas, but hoped that the unprecedented number of student nurses would provide a good supply later.

Now the war is over, and nurses are still scarce. The war department is asking for the return of 1,000 of its former nurses to serve in army hospitals. The navy is asking for another 1,000. Meanwhile private hospitals continue the struggle.

The country's great supply of nurses has not vanished, although some, of course, have married and left the profession. Biggest loss from hospital staffs has been to private doctors, veterans' hospitals and to industrial medical offices, practically all of which offer better salaries and more satisfactory working hours than most private hospitals.

Nurses feel that they are entitled to the same kind of working conditions they must have if they did office work. Most of them like their work, but they also like the independent life outside the job that goes with many other types of employment. "The time has come when people must realize that we nurse not only because we like to nurse, but also as a means of earning a living," several women say in a letter to the New York Times. "We are not martyrs. We did not renounce worldly things."

Apparently if hospitals are to get more nurses, they must be able to cut hours, raise salaries, and establish more stable working schedules—which means that many hospitals must find ways to raise more funds.

'Wrath of Deep South' Rises Again

CONTENDING that "real Mississippians have no apologies to make for the re-election of Bilbo and Rankin," the Gulfport, Miss., Dixie Guide says rather petulantly, "The wrath of the Deep South rises as it did in 1861, and the illegitimate Democrats who invaded the party, either for spoils or communistic contamination, are responsible for a political condition that becomes increasingly intolerable."

Which gives an idea that the Russians are not the only people who are difficult to get along with, and also indicates that some Mississippians are still harping on their "wrath" of 85 years ago.

It is now reported that Congressman Coffee, far from being a drip, was recognized, during his college days, as a regular grind.

Regular Democrats In California Angered By Left Wing Associates

By RAYMOND MOLEY

SANTA BARBARA — The state of the official Democratic party in California has sunk so low that there appeared in this year's primary what was known as the CIO-PAC-Democratic "package" ticket. The Democrats were the lesser part of the "package." Before the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the string which held the package together was allegiance to the war president. The remaining ties are badly frayed.

The minor role of the traditional Democrats was sharply revealed this summer in the selection of a state chairman. The treasurer of the Democratic party of the state was a conservative Democrat and businessman, Tom Scully. This, incidentally, is a familiar feature in states where the New Deal Democracy is allied with the CIO and other left-wing groups. The idea is that a conservative treasurer collects from the remaining "fat cats" in the party. Contributions from the CIO-PAC require no solicitor, for it either spends its money itself or gives for reasons other than those advanced by a treasurer.

Mr. Scully aspired to the chairmanship of the party he had long served. Left-wing elements had another idea and got behind James Roosevelt, who has become very active in politics out here.

The state committee elected Roosevelt. Roosevelt had been serving with the so-called Hollywood committee of arts, sciences and what-not. It was a bitter defeat for the traditional Democrats. They did not object to the Roosevelt name. But they did not like the reported connections and the groups which sponsored the son of the late president.

Will Rogers, jr., Democratic candidate for the United States senate, will have a hard time holding his party behind him. He showed a good deal of indecision about the chairmanship fight, but finally supported Roosevelt. Rogers is generally regarded as belonging with the left wing of the party.

The traditional Democrats are about fed up with their radical associates. For ten years, it has been apparent that they have been growing increasingly unhappy. But now, with James Roosevelt as chairman and the quick memory of a terrible beating in the primaries this year, they are about ready to bolt.

One of them ventured the private opinion that the only way to get the Democratic party reorganized is to provide the votes for a big Republican victory this fall.

The feeling is extremely bitter between the elements in the California Democracy. One side talks about the "Communists"; the other, about the "reactionaries." All sorts of charges are made.

The official registration of voters in California still shows an overwhelming majority of Democrats. But this means little in a primary or an election. Governor Warren, by consistently sticking to his role of non-partisanship, captured both primaries.

The real test will be the senatorial contest between Will Rogers, jr., and Senator William F. Knowland. At the moment, the contest looks close. But if the Democrats maintain their current resentment, Knowland will win.

In California, as elsewhere, the alliance of groups which won so many times for President Roosevelt is falling apart.

Palestine Provides Example of Unrest.

WASHINGTON — The news stories out of the Paris peace conference read at times like the accounts of a big-time prize fight. Round by round, we hear first that the American champion is on top, then the Russian.

But whether, in this first vacationing summer since the war, the American public is following the international diplomatic contest with anything like the interest accorded the National League pennant race is debatable. From a beach or mountain top, it looks like something seen through the wrong end of a telescope.

Secretary of State Byrnes scores a point on Foreign Minister Molotov. As in those international chess matches carried on by telegraph, no one but the experts can be quite sure how much this means for the home team.

One reason the conference has an air of unreality is the fact that it is carefully proscribed from considering the issues that will determine war or peace in the world. Take, as a single example, Palestine, which is a key area in the key region of the Middle East.

While the peace-makers have been sitting in Paris, the situation in Palestine has steadily and tragically deteriorated. Like the chain reaction of the atomic bomb, one explosion leads to another and the end is disaster. The blast in the King David hotel in Jerusalem was only one in the chain.

What is lacking is a positive plan—a plan that would mean a beginning of a solution for the whole region. Responsible Zionist leaders know this better than anyone else. They know the terrible dangers inherent in trying to force a political solution which overlooks the fierce conflicts, economic and racial, in an area torn by ancient dissension.

Such a plan would raise the level of the Arab peasant. The Jews, in their homeland in Palestine, have made the desert bloom. Repeatedly the Arabs have come to them for advice and help. In the larger plan, the Jewish state would serve as an example.

In the newest London proposals for Palestine, there was a hint of such an approach. Along with a proposal for partition of the area into a Jewish Palestine and an Arab Palestine, went a reported recommendation for a fund of $200,000,000 to start the rehabilitation of the Middle East. This would be spent on irrigation, hydroelectric projects, education of the Arab peasant in modern agriculture.

Presumably most of the $200,000,000 would have to come from this country. The mere suggestion of such a possibility immediately set up an outcry from the old forces of isolationism. They promptly called it a "bribe," to the Arabs.

Britain, they said, would have to pay this "bribe," not the United States. Once again, as in the '30s, they seem to prefer the ultimate disaster of war and, therefore, they resist any and all steps which might prevent a war.

Too many men in our state department and in the British foreign office and colonial service are thinking in terms of the past, when it was enough to back an influential sheik or a reigning pasha who controlled his people. Those days are gone forever.

Dave Boone Says:

EMPLOYMENT in America has passed 60,000,000 jobs, the census bureau reports. That includes the people attending strike meetings, the ones at ball games, golf matches and race meets, and it also takes in the men taking the census.

* * *

Maybe there are 60,000,000 people at work in this country today but they don't look anywhere near as busy as employed people used to.

* * *

A man at work ain't what he once was by a long shot. The old-time American used to look busier, on his day off than the 1946 model worker looks when doing a rush job.

* * *

I suppose that sixty-million figure also includes the fellows broadcasting, writing and debating on the evils of the American capitalistic system and the lack of opportunity under it.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

Arrogance Finally Resulted In Revolt.

ATHENS, Tenn.—Any doubt as to the unprecedented nature of the provocation which led to the veterans' victorious vendetta here on election day should long since have been dispelled by three much-publicized facts:

1. Good, average, politically-lazy American citizens were sufficiently aroused to risk their necks casting both ballots and bullets to beat the machine;

2. The powerful Tennessee state political machine, long believed to be a patron saint of the local vehicle, suddenly found urgent business elsewhere, abandoned the defeated McMinn county boys to their fate—and then publicly advertised it didn't even know who they were.

3. State Senator Paul Cantrell and county Sheriff Pat Mansfield, all set to swap jobs again and keep their ten-year-old control of the McMinn machine, fled town in the dead of night and then stopped plans for an election probe by hurriedly admitting defeat and announcing at least temporary retirement from politics. . . . What then, was the provocation? What made the usually mild-mannered mountaineers mad?

Admittedly, they had put up with bootlegging, graft, rotten politics, spoils system swapping, election stealing and ordinary, run-of-the-mill machine rule before.

All of those things were contributing factors toward the final explosion—but the slow-burning fuse was stupid and brutal misuse of machine power.

In words of two syllables: Too many of the wrong people got beat up too often.

It is amazing that these hill people stood it as long as they did, for their independence is legendary.

It began with bootlegging, perhaps. In the middle of the "Bible Belt," Athens has 16 churches and a church-sponsored college—Tennessee-Wesleyan—and the town and McMinn county are dry. But nearby Chattanooga is wet, and if a man brought a bottle back for his neighbor, too, technically he was a bootlegger.

It's doubtful if even the GI's non-partisan victors will be able to stop bootlegging. But when it ran wild, it brought graft and racketeering into town.

The Tennessee fee system of paying officers according to the number of arrests, court actions and the like, made life so tough for the tourists that hundreds wrote U. S. Marshal Peg Bell complaining.

That was no surprise, but McMinn county records show an amazing number of tourists apparently went to jail instead of paying. Naturally, there was no record of fines in such cases, and officers could collect fees for feeding listed prisoners.

But the war killed the tourist crop and deputies had to fatten their salaries with fees from the home folks, and back-talk became bad business. Protest brought broken heads and even death threats.

Down at the McMinn county jail, there's a broken place in the sidewalk that runs along White street out in front. Folks here call it the "Thousand Dollar Crack."

"If you stumbled over the crack walking by," and young David Yarbrough, shirt-sleeved ex-GI sitting on the porch, "they yanked you in, arrested you for drunkenness, collected sixteen bucks and a nickel—and beat you up if you talked back."

Then came election day and when the voting obviously and overwhelmingly favored the GIs non-partisan candidates, the machine made its last stupid blunder—and provided the final provocation.

Scores of armed, imported "special deputies" bullied, beat, blackjacked and even shot veterans and their supporters, and then swiped the ballot boxes.

The boys did it well. Nobody was killed, but, before dawn came, even the toughest deputy knew they'd really beat up the wrong people this time.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

IF THE decontrol board is listening there is a correction to be made in the records.

* * *

There was a woman who appeared before the board and said she was talking for the housewives of America . . . my wife says she doesn't know the lady.

* * *

My wife says she has not delegated her conversational powers to anyone . . . not even me . . . and if she has anything to tell the decontrol board it will be in person.

* * *

I don't know the lady either but she must be a brave woman. She tops even a Phil Murray or a Bill Green claiming to speak for every man who toils.

* * *

Men don't protest much . . . they just smile a little but when you get somebody claiming to speak for every housewife you've got somebody asking for trouble.

Army Wives Inspiration to GI's In Europe.

PARIS — (By Wireless) — The best thing that has happened to the American army in Europe is the arrival of the wives. U. S. troops—which, by the way, have been doing a magnificent job wherever I've seen them—have been given a new lease on life by the arrival of their wives.

It's a great sight to see army husbands waiting for their better halves to arrive at a railroad station. It's amusing, inspiring, pathetic all at once. But most of all it's inspiring.

Men who have faced all sorts of danger in battle stand on the station platform, nervous, perspiring and anxious. They carry little bouquets of flowers. The train is late. The flowers wilt. It doesn't make any difference. They haven't seen their families for two- three, perhaps even four, years and they're not quite sure what is going to happen. Then, finally, the train arrives. The band plays "Kiss Me Once and Kiss Me Twice and Kiss Me Once Again." The reunited couples need no encouragement.

When the first trainload of wives arrived at Bremerhaven and took the long, slow trip down through Germany, army bands were out to meet them at every station. The train was late and sometimes the ladies didn't arrive at their different destinations until long after midnight but th serenaders stayed up just the same and the wives woke up and came out, cold cream and all, to receive the musical salutes and flowers.

The arrival of American army wives in Europe has straightened up troop morals more than any other factor. Profanity at army sports contests vanished overnight. Fewer frauleins are now living in army quarters. Chaplains say that if the the American wives don't make any missteps themselves they can have a great effect upon the entire American army in Europe.

Portuguese Bases.

It has been widely publicized in the press that the giant airplane carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt with accompanying ships is making a good-will visit to Portugal. However, another matter coincident with the visit has not been publicized.

The Portuguese government has recently turned down cold the American request that we lease the Azores air base which we built during the war. For some time negotiations for a permanent base have been under way, but after considerable hesitation the Portuguese finally gave us a flat no.

Diplomats consider it more than significant that the giant carrier FDR should now parade a little muscle in Lisbon.

Attlee Trusts Byrnes.

Prime Minister Attlee had a tough time in Paris while Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin was sick. He never could quite tell what Bevin had agreed to in the previous secret conversations of the Big Four.

One day while Secretary of State Byrnes was conferring with a group of Americans at the Hotel Maurice, he was called to the phone three times in one hour. Finally Byrnes apologized.

"That was Prime Minister Attlee," he explained. "He is conferring with our people and the British and French and they keep referring to agreements we made at the Big Four meetings with Ernie Bevin.

"Attlee keeps calling me to find out if Bevin really made the deals they refer to."

Conditions Justify "Outside Interference."

WASHINGTON — The time-worn political strategy which consists of playing up what is called "outside interference" is being exploited in primary campaigns this season more than in past years.

It has been emphasized particularly with regard to the South, but it is by no means confined to that section.

"Outside interference," as defined in the political lexicon, is when someone or some organization outside a state dares to say something about the personalities and issues in a state election, either from a distance or on a visit to that state.

It is "outside interference," for example, when the president raises his voice against a member of his own party, even though the member is from the president's native state where the president several times has been elected to public office.

The issue, too, in that case, was national. For the member of congress from Mr. Truman' own Missouri, Rep. Slaughter, was trying to block the president's legislative program, which affects the people of the whole nation.

It is "outside interference" when people in other parts of the country, political writers, magazine writers, or others, have something to say about Senator Bilbo of Mississippi, for instance. This, despite the fact, that what Senator Bilbo does in the senate affects people all over the country.

Furthermore, political reporters who cover Senator Bilbo's activities daily probably know a good deal more about the senator and his influence on the affairs of the nation, as well as on the affairs of the people of the South and his own Mississippi, than do most people who live in Mississippi.

It is "outside interference" by "Smear Writers"—the term applied so commonly—if anybody goes to Tennessee and, from first-hand observation, describes how Boss Ed H. Crump's Memphis machine conducts elections, which is such a contrast to the way they are conducted in most other places as to be startling news now as in the past.

Are we one nation, or are we 48 tight little compartments like European principalities of feudal days? What happens in one locality, whether it is divided by an imaginary line from some other locality, is important to people who live elsewhere.

This is true of elections, whether they are for state officials, such as that in which Gene Talmadge was returned to power in Georgia, or for national officials. Mr. Talmadge cannot live and rule to himself in Georgia. His influence spreads elsewhere. Likewise members elected to congress have their influence on many parts of the country.

It seems a little late for us to be dividing ourselves into isolated compartments here within the United States, when we have recognized, with the shrinking of the world, that it must be organized politically so that each nation can conduct itself for the good of all nations.

It is a sham issue and usually recognized for what it is, a last resort appeal to some sort of local prejudice against "outsiders" when other appeals fail.

It is doubtful that it has as much effect as is claimed by those who hope to profit by it. In fact, it probably has little over-all.

Whatever the effect of this "outside interference" it is going to continue. The nation is now too much inter-related and the people have too much at stake to restrain themselves when something happens elsewhere that impinges upon their interest and their welfare.

Views of a Veteran.

Editor News-Journal:

Just a year ago it became possible for us to start thinking of coming home. The Pacific war ended unexpectedly. All plans were laid for the return of a minority of high point men to civilian status. The whole demobilization plan became a turmoil.

Instead of a million and a half the cities of America found six times as many swarming in on them. The majority of veterans realized this was upsetting the apple cart. They expected confusion and a housing shortage. It would last a few months, perhaps longer. However we were full of confidence from promises of the folks back home to help us readjust to civilian life.

A few people moved downstairs and remodeled their second floors. But what did most of you do? One man knew he would have to give up his den. His neighbor had a baby to consider. If she made room the baby had no nursery.

A year hasn't changed it much. A house that sold for $7,000 then, is now selling for $15,000. Ninety per cent of vets who jammed in with in-laws, are still living that way. Even that could be put up with.

But this broke the camel's back. The manufacturers of Mansfield put in a call for housing for five thousand workers. "Have we room for that many?" "Of course we have, we'll make room." Forty women and the Boy Scouts are making a canvass for this space.

Where were these people when we came home? You haven't taken care of your present housing problem, without taking on more. With all respect to our manufacturers, our first duty is to our own municipal problems. There is still something that can be done. Use this same canvassing method to help the men who have it coming to them and are too proud to ask for this help.

Britain's Experiment In Socialism.

Walter Lippmann is on vacation for several weeks. His column will be resumed upon his return.

LONDON—There are many excellent reasons why the British experiment in democratic socialism may fail. Mankind is fallible for one thing. The men who compose the machinery of the British government are tired after seven years of war. The enormous task of carrying out a complex socialist program and directing a planned peace-time economy may simply be too much for them.

Then, too, some isolated cog in the machine may fail to mesh with its fellows. For example, the accumulation of working capital for the socialist experiment depends upon exports. In the first three months of 1945 exports were 32 per cent by volume of the base figure in 1938. In the same period of 1946, while imports had declined slightly, exports had risen to 84 per cent by volume of the 1938 total.

To come close to tripling the export total in one year is an astonishing achievement, but the socialist planners require immense further increases before austerity can be relaxed.

And export figures already show a heavy concentration on metal goods, where competition from the United States and other nations will be stiffest later on.

Again, as previously reported in this space, Britain faces a coal crisis this winter. Cold houses, slow-down in factory production and a recurrence in unemployment may prove to be the added misery which breaks the endurance of the British people.

If the need for austerity ceases to be accepted by the people, it will be a grievous temptation to the British conservatives to abandon their present policy of unhappy collaboration with the government.

If the opposition should raise the kind of outcry against the government which the Republicans raised against Roosevelt and if the people should go with them, the job of building a socialist economy by consent would become impossible.

Finally, it is always necessary to remember the British are trying to do four things at once. They are rebuilding their country after a devastating war. They are carrying on normal business. They are constructing the new socialist economy. And they are carrying greater defense burdens than ever before in their peace-time history.

Merely from the standpoint of man power, the demands are a little greater than they can quite meet. For instance they have gained 1,000,000 of manpower by abolishing all but transitional unemployment. But this gain has been almost wholly cancelled out by the increase in defense forces over pre-war totals—which has caused serious controversy between Herbert Morrison's planners and the imperial general staff.

In short, the adverse factors bulk large, even if one ignores the possibility of a grave international crisis in the next five years. Nevertheless, it is this correspondent's opinion—or hunch might be a better word—that the British experiment will be made to work somehow or other.

From the standpoint of the United States, facing the grim world left by the second World war, it is vitally important that success should crown the efforts of the British. The reason was simply put by a shrewd English leader, who said:

"What we are doing is the only bearable escape from the choice which faces most nations in the world nowadays, which is the choice between the knaves and the Communists."

This truth, already pointed out in this space, is worth asserting again as the conclusion of the present necessarily superficial examination of the British experiment. It is a hard truth for Americans to understand, since America today is a fortunate island of wealth where plenty is still the rule.

Elsewhere, however, over almost the whole surface of the earth, the rule is poverty, not plenty. Poor countries cannot afford the luxury (which seems to most Americans a necessity) of economic as well as political freedom. They must carefully plan the use of their available resources to make them stretch as far as possible. They are like poor families in which the father and mother must calculate the expenditure of every dime and nickel, to be sure that the whole family is fed, clothed, sheltered and kept warm.

In these countries, there is no question of the kind of freedom from government controls which is advocated, for example, by Senator Robert A. Taft.

That would be like giving $2 apiece to each member of a family of six with a combined income of $12 a week and telling each to spend his or her $2 on candy or movies or ornaments or whatever else seemed most attractive.

There is only one real question in these countries: whether government planning is going to be done democratically, in accordance with the will of the people, or is going to be done in a totalitarian manner. And in many countries, the strongest voices today are those of the Communists and of the knaves, as your correspondent's friend called the members of the extreme Right, who would like to ward off Communism by getting in first with some sort of totalitarian system of their own.

The British experiment offers an escape from this dilemma. It may not be attractive to us in America but it should be supremely attractive to other peoples who have no further choice except the totalitarianism of extreme Left or Right.

The British experiment is socialist. It is based on government planning and control to provide the most economical use of existing resources. But it is emphatically not totalitarian. In fact, it will break down very rapidly if it ceases to command majority support in Britain. Thus it is an experiment which free men can attempt with honor, and can even embark upon with enthusiasm, as many Englishmen are doing today.

If American leadership does not falter, and the British experiment does not fail, there is no real reason why the future should not be faced with confidence. But if either of these conditions is not fulfilled, the Western system can hardly withstand the pressure which the Soviet system is exerting outwards all along its borders. And then, for free men the future will be displeasing indeed.

Farmer's Diary: "Civic-Minded Preacher."

"I'M CONVINCED," a village preacher said to me, "that vision and spiritual growth are not found in slums and squalor. The little hill town where I am pastor is in debt. Every year there are more demands for streets and sewers and schools—and our only source of revenue is to tax our property owners and the foundry that is our principal industry. So I've thought—and prayed—that there might be a better solution.

"The other morning I was in my study, where the broad, treeless, rugged hills seem to shout into my window. Lift up thine eyes unto the hills, whence cometh thy help, came to my mind—and I tried to think how those hills would look, clothed in dense green forest, as in the olden days. Streams were clear, in those days, and full of fish; the land was rich and fertile, where now thousands of acres are abandoned hilly gullies not worth the taxes paid.

"Then all at once, a solution dawned on me . . . a vision you might say . . . of a project big enough to make my village proud, and financially independent. I got excited! The bigger and nobler the project a community undertakes the more petty quarrels and selfish disagreements it leaves behind. We need a goal, far enough ahead to make us lift our sights.

"Here we have an active Boy Scout troop, a Chamber of Commerce, a Garden club, several lodges, four churches, a Grange, a Farm Bureau, a ministers' association, an agricultural extension agent actively promoting 4-H clubs, and a consolidated school. There's a state agricultural experiment station within 50 miles.

"Suppose our village purchased these marginal, barren hills—a few of them at a time, perhaps—and planted them all to fast-growing native trees. In less than 20 years, there would be a yield of timber. We could hire our own forester and by scientific lumbering and proper care the project could grow in value for a thousand years. They've done it in Sweden and parts of Germany and France. Any village with vision enough could do it here.

"Farm lands all about would be better watered, for the rain would be kept right here. Springs would be renewed. Streams would remain clear and wild life abundant. The groves planted would be continual sources of delight, and we could train our children to love and care for them. Seems to me, everyone who joined in the actual work would be richer and wiser for the experiment, right away—and it would be a heritage for the future."

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

ASH COLLECTION CHANGES NEEDED STRACHAN SAYS

New Ordinance Should Enlist Aid of Householder, He Feels.

It's not the garbage but the ashes that cost the city money, Sanitation Supt. Al Strachan said today.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn was right, he added, in suggesting that higher fees be charged but the new ordinance also should enlist some help from the householder.

The mayor said he would recommend that council raise the garbage-ash collection fee of $7.20 a year. The service actually costs the city $10.78 per customer, Vaughn said, citing a Strachan survey.

Additional income he added, would permit improved service through purchase of new equipment and also place the sanitation department on a self-paying basis.

* * *

Profit Seen In Speed.

But Strachan said that council, in bringing up-to-date the garbage collection ordinance that has been unchanged since 1920, well might consider some things besides fees.

"While a boost in collection fees will take the department out of the red," he said, "it won't do much to improve ash collection.

"As it is now, pickup crews must spend 12 to 15 minutes at each house while collecting ashes, but only about three minutes at each home collecting garbage.

"That's because garbage is set outside and ashes are not."

With three garbage trucks, pickup crews make a complete round of the 7,500 customers in one week, Strachan added. In contrast, four ash collection trucks need six weeks to cover the city.

* * *

Answer In Difference.

"The answer is in the difference between the two collection systems", he declared.

Ash-collecting crews, at times, have to awaken people and wait for them to open basements or their homes, Strachan said.

Sometimes they must carry ash buckets through darkened areas and, hence, must move slowly. And once in a while they must actually fill the buckets for customers.

But the biggest delay comes when return calls must be made because customers were not at home when the first call was made, the superintendent asserted.

"If the ash collection system could be revamped and persons be required to set ash containers just outside their homes—not out to the curb—these delays would be eliminated and the service improved," Strachan said.

"Further, if ash collections were limited to perhaps a bushel and a half a week, that would go toward speeding collections.

"If city council considers these factors as well as fee increases when they meet to revise the collection ordinance then service certainly will be improved."

IF you're inclined to fret because the good news hasn't come that your Buick's ready, just remember this:

The best is never easiest to get. And top-notch goods always pull the biggest buy-lines.

So it isn't just parts and material shortages that keep our waiting list long, though they have plenty to do with it.

It is also the plain fact that Buick stands today as the most wanted car in America.

It's wanted for style that puts you right out in front of the motorcar fashion parade.

It's wanted for the abundant power of big Fireball straight-eight engines, built to precision standards not even Buick ever achieved before.

It's wanted for the matchless comfort of BuiCoil springing, three-person seats, Foamtex-covered cushions — and for the good, husky, time-defying bulk that means a car that's good for years.

It's wanted because it's a car that is solid Buick character all the way through — a standout performer that's right to the last fine detail and complete in every way when you get it.

Fact is — every new Buick delivered seems to bring in more orders.

Demand is actually growing — not just because new cars are needed, but because this Buick is so far, far ahead of what people expected.

SHOWERS GIVEN FOR MISS ART, BRIDE-ELECT

Fiancee of David L. McGinty Guest of Honor at Parties Tuesday, Wednesday Evenings.

As a pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Lillian Art, whose marriage to David McGinty will take place Aug. 24, Mrs. LeRoy McGinty entertained last evening at her home on Vennum avenue.

A novel way was used to present the kitchen shower gifts to the honoree. After the dessert course was served, the strains of the "Wedding March" were heard and a dummy bride which was dressed in a wedding gown worn 65 years ago was brought into the room. Arranged in the train of the gown, carried by little Mary Ellen Sherrer, were shower gifts.

Bridge was played with prizes won by Mrs. John Hattman and Mrs. A. J. Baki.

On Tuesday, Miss Margie Schwein entertained at her home on Marion avenue in compliment to Miss Art with a miscellaneous shower.

The table from which salad was served was centered with a low silver bowl of white flowers with candelabra and white candles as the centerpiece. The small tables at which the guests were seated were centered with miniature bouquets of pink flowers.

Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Robert Henry and Miss Evelyn Art.

Miss Art and Mr. McGinty will be wed at 3:30 p. m. in the First English Lutheran church in a formal closed service with Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell officiating.

Patricia Milum Feted At Widman Home In Norwalk

Miss Patricia Milum, bride-elect of John R. Watts, was feted Tuesday evening in Norwalk by friends. Hostess for the occasion was Mrs. Eugene Widman.

One of the guests at Leon and Eddie's celebrity party for Georgia Sothern was screen star Robert Alda, who doesn't mind admitting that he used to sing "trailers" in burlesque while she was doing her act—such appealing unpeeling accompaniment as "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" and "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody." . . . HOROSCOPE

For Friday, August 16.

The planetary configurations are tokens of high culminations and rewards for long sustained and meritorious endeavor. There are rich and enduring returns for those who have met their responsibilities and obligations with fortitude, patience and perseverence.

Rewards may come in the form of increase of salary, promotion, or other substantial gratuity. It would be wise to be alert to certain peculiar entanglements or forms of duplicity or intrigue. Meet such with sagacity and equal subtlety.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of solid past performances claiming their just returns. Industry, application, fidelity and worth come into their own, with enduring and sustained security for future "cashing in."

It would be well to watch for secret machinations or subtle intrigues meant to frustrate such sound and heartwarming prospects. But subdue all rash, tempestuous or hectic impulses.

A child born on this day should have ubstantial basic talents for a life of meritorious performance, with rich returns for labors well done and duty graciously recognized.

Washington Letter

—By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON—The 79th congress went home tired out, suffering from nervous indigestion and increased blood pressure, says Dr. George Calver, physician to members of the senate and house for 17 years.

Being a congressman isn't exactly the best thing for the health, he implies. He says he "patched up" quite a few of the boys before they went home.

"Congress has been working hard since 1937. Members have had no vacation, no break in the tension. Consequently they've been under a considerable amount of nervous strain," he says. Some were so tired they couldn't sleep.

Dr. Calver says he advised his patients to try to get away from things if they could manage it.

"You can't tell them to forget politics during a campaign year, but they ought to try to get away from their own districts for a little while at least."

He says he advised them to get eight hours' sleep; exercise such as walking, fishing or golfing out in the fresh air, and plenty of good home cooking.

Many members eat most of their meals out when congress is in session. The doctor says they often have to bolt their meals, and the food isn't always good.

On Dr. Calver's office walls, are photographs of many a renowned solon.

"They have to suffer under my administration before they can hang their picture here," he says.

CORPS DIPLOMATIQUE, a Washington publication slanted at Embassy Row, prints a yarn telling of the romantic leanings of Princess Elizabeth of England. It says she soon will "elect a man" . . . a continental prince related to the Danish royal family.

The magazine says that if you look in the last Almanach de Gotha and find a prince about 23 years of age he may be the man.

She also reports to her associates in the Women's City club of Grand Rapids, her home town. She's been doing this for 10 years.

Since she began accompanying her husband to international conferences, the reports have taken on an international aspect. She reported the charter-making period at San Francisco, the London conferences and the two recent Paris conferences.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

THE OBSERVER

Through observation much is gained
For useful knowledge is obtained.
—Mr. Blacksnake.

To observe is to watch, to try to see with understanding. Some folks are good observers and some are poor observers. Most of the Green Meadow and Green Forest folks are good observers. They have to be. Very, very often their lives depend on observing well, watching what is going on around them, and doing it with understanding. It is through observation, the careful watching of others, that many of them obtain much of their food.

Of all the people in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadows, in the Old Pasture, around the Smiling Pool, and along Laughing Brook the most disliked are the Snake folk. Little or big no one wants them for neighbors. Anyway that is how it seems Why is it? Only Buzztail the Rattlesnake and Copperhead in the North, and two cousins in the South, have the poison-teeth called fangs and so are dangerous to those larger than themselves including Man. All others in the country are harmless. Some of them wear truly fine coats All of them mind their own business and ask only to be let alone. So why is it they have so few friends and are feared without cause or reason?

Perhaps it is because they are different. It seems as if folks who are different always are looked on with suspicion Perhaps it is because without wings or legs they move about quickly, easily, gracefully, some swimming and some even climbing trees Perhaps it is because they have a way of staring at one unblinkingly They can't help that You see, they haven't any eyelids to close, so they must stare. Most of the harmless ones are really Man's friends, helping him by destroying pests but he doesn't seem to know it So while they are his friends he isn't their friend

Mr Blacksnake learned ago when he was still small to see but not to be seen. This is why he has lived to be the big, handsome fellow that he is. He learned to take notice of little things about him and to learn what they mean or can mean. He became an observer.

This morning he was doing two things at the same time, taking a sun bath and observing. He had chosen a comfortable place near the tree in which Mrs. Happy Jack Squirrel had her big, comfortable summer home. In winter she likes a warm hollow in the trunk or a big limb of a tree where rough Presently he saw Mrs. Happy Jack running up a tree.

Brother North Wind cannot get to her and Jack Frost cannot pinch her. In summer she takes a big, airy outside nest of twigs and leaves

When Mr. Blacksnake coiled there for his sun bath and to rest he knew nothing about the nest. He wasn't thinking of nests. It was midsummer and he knew through long experience that looking for nests in midsummer was a waste of time and effort. They were almost always empty for young birds of most kinds were already out in the Great World. In the spring and early summer he had spent a lot of time looking for nests He has, I am sorry to say, a fondness for eggs and baby birds. But in this he is no worse than a number of others I might name, some in feathers and some in fur.

Presently he saw Mrs Happy Jack running up a tree She doesn't really climb when she goes up a tree No, sir, she doesn't climb The Squirrel folks are so much at home in and on trees that they seldom need to climb. They run up the trunk and along the branches and jump from one to another They move about in trees much as most folks move about on the ground

He wasn't interested in Mrs Happy Jack. He was too big to be afraid of her and she was too big to be afraid of him They just had nothing to do with each other. So he wasn't interested in Mrs Happy Jack until he saw that in her mouth she had a twig with two or three leaves. Then he was interested That meant a nest. She must be making a new nest, or fixing up an old one.

He glided to a place where he could watch better with less chance of being seen himself. What was Mrs Happy Jack building or fixing a nest for at this time of year? For a long time he kept watch The nest was not too high in that tree He observed that Mrs Happy Jack remained in that nest a long time while Happy Jack wasn't there at all. What did it mean?

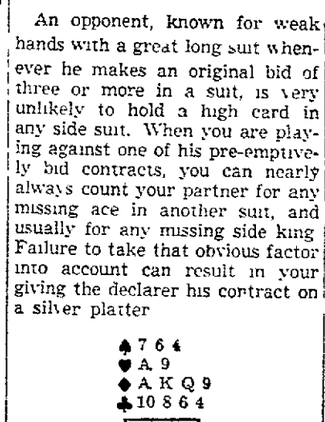
Barclay on Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

An opponent, known for weak hands with a great long suit whenever he makes an original bid of three or more in a suit, is very unlikely to hold a high card in any side suit. When you are playing against one of his pre-emptively bid contracts, you can nearly always count your partner for any missing ace in another suit, and usually for any missing side king Failure to take that obvious factor into account can result in your giving the declarer his contract on a silver platter



(Dealer, South. North-South vulnerable)

South	West	North	East
3♥	Pass	4♥

Against that bidding, West led his club 3, the Q winning Without a moment's hesitation, East then returned the club K. South ruffed this, ran seven hearts and then three diamonds to score a total of 11 tricks, giving him an extra above his contract.

What in the world was the matter with East? Did he possibly think South had the spade A? More likely, he didn't think at all or he would have realized that, with the spade A in his hand, South would not have betokened weakness with that pre-empting 3-Hearts bid

West was exactly right in not leading a spade, which would have risked giving the declarer a trick if the K or Q was in either the closed hand or the dummy. But East was dead wrong in not switching to a spade He should, after a look at the dummy, have realized that West positively had that card, and might also have held the 10

If East had taken his spade K on the second trick and then led his J—or, for that matter, any other spade at all—the defenders would have scored three tricks in the suit and would have set the declarer a trick.

Tomorrow's Problem.

With correct bidding by a North-South pair using the Blackwood convention, which partner should make the 4-No Trumps call?

Says Clock Can Sell for Quarter

CIRCLEVILLE—(UP)—The invention of an electric clock which can be manufactured and sold for 25 cents has been claimed here by Kemper Hammel, a former resident now employed by the Eureka Company of Bloomington, Ill.

Hammel says he invented the clock while working for a Toledo company and that the patent was assigned to the company. The clock has only three moving parts Officials of the Toledo concern placed the patent in a safe, saying that they would market the clock whenever a competitor put one on the market for as low as a dollar, Hammel claimed

VETS PLAY BALL

SPRINGFIELD, Mass.—(UP)—World War I and World War II veterans plaed on opposite sides in the American Legion baseball game here. In some cases, members of the team representing the recent war were sons of players on the other side.

EMPLOYMENT AT HISTORY'S HIGHEST PEAK

National Income Still Near War Levels Despite Cuts in Expenditures.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — The nation is enjoying its highest level of civilian employment in history, and despite the enormous decreases in war expenditures national income is holding close to wartime peaks, General Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust company, said today in his monthly business review.

The economist said rapid reconversion, rising wages, a building boom and a trade boom on one hand and large-scale and widespread labor disputes plus the slow and spotty recovery of industrial production on the other has marked the first full year of peace.

Ayres asserted that hourly wages of industrial workers are higher than at any previous time.

He blamed "economic blundering at Washington," for the "strange hodge-podge of business conditions."

Ayres said the basic assumptions by the government which "moved promptly and vigorously" after the end of the war to avoid deflation and to prevent the collapse of purchasing power "were almost completely erroneous." He said the government did this also to guard against widespread unemployment "which it assumed would develop with the return of peace."

"The government encouraged demands for higher wages, and charged the OPA with the impossible task of freezing prices, despite the increased costs of production which it fostered," Ayres asserted.

The economist said the people had built up a huge demand for goods and saved money "on an unprecedented scale." Now, after one year of peace, Ayres said, they still have purchasing power, but are tired of waiting any longer for goods.

Result of this is that a boom in retail trade has developed despite the mounting prices which may help serve to keep business activity at fairly high levels until industrial production can develop to more nearly adequate volumes, according to Ayres.

In the first month following the temporary demise of OPA price controls, wholesale prices increased rapidly, Ayres said, but the price rise really began in the autumn of last year. This proves that OPA "had become quite incapable of holding its own price lines" by permitting price increases during that time, Ayres said.

In 1943, 1944 and 1945, total unemployment were fewer than 1,000,000 persons, Ayres said, adding that now there are more than two and one-half million out of work, although there are more people employed in civilian jobs than ever before in our history.

Industrial production increased "sharply" in June, and Ayres attributed this fact to the settlement of the coal strike and resumption of mining. The physical volume of industrial production increased "by something more than nine per cent" from May to June.

Stars Answer All Questions At Astrologers' Convention

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Current high prices will continue to nag you for the next two years because Saturn is in Leo.

The British empire will face another severe trial in 1960 when Saturn deserts Leo for Sagittarius.

And not only that, but President Truman will be stronger politically in 1948 than he was in 1944 because his sun then will move to mid-heaven.

These forecasts came out of the American Federation of Astrologers convention here today after the convention had been convened at the "correct astrological time."

Telling of things to come were Edith L. Scott of Los Angeles, Cal., and Ernie A. Grant, Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the group headed by President Keye Lloyd, Chicago.

The next war, or "real danger period" as Miss Scott and Grant termed it, will come in 1960.

"Saturn rules the bridge between Europe and Asia and that will be the boiling pot of the next war," Miss Scott said.

But we can relax for the present about any Russian moves, she added.

"Russia is having internal troubles at the present time that will delay her aggressiveness and preparations," she said.

"Although we're astrologically not playing ball with Russia," she added, "there will be no immediate international conflict."

As for Britain, she can prepare herself to settle the Indian problem in 1960 because India is ruled by Capricorn and "Cappy" says the time will be ripe then.

As for our chances of collecting on the British loan, Miss Scott said "indications are that payment is highly improbable."

"The atom bomb is going to awaken the sleeping fires of extinct volcanoes and more islands will appear in the Pacific," she added. And our current crime "wave" will continue because most of the boys committing the crimes were born when Neptune entered Virgo, she added.

While it looks like a Democratic year in 1948, things look better for the elephant in '52.

"According to the present information on Harold L. Stassen, it appears best that the Republicans concentrate on getting him elected president in 1952 instead of 1948," Miss Scott said.

As for Ohio's John W. Bricker, she said strong undercover political opposition is indicated for him in his horoscope although it indicates that he is a very good political administrator.

Our next depression? In about five years, Miss Scott concluded.

PIMPLES Disappeared Overnight

Blackheads too. No waiting. Yes, it is true, there is a safe, harmless, medicated liquid, called KLEEREX that dries up pimples overnight as it acts to loosen and remove ugly blackheads. Those who followed simple directions and applied Kleerex upon retiring were amazingly surprised when they found their pimples and blackheads had disappeared. Jack Lait — On Broadway

BROOKLYN IS the most populous county (Kings) in the nation—more than 3,000,000. It's Mayor Bill O'Dwyer's home baliwick, and he loves it. So he fought to make its Borough President, John Cashmore, its Democratic leader. He won. But few know it was a bitter battle, in which the genial, sentimental Irishman, who can be hard as the nightstick he used to carry, routed the forces of Kenneth Sutherland, of Coney Island.

O'Dwyer threatened Sutherland and his majority on the executive committee, which elects the leader, with the same patronage starvation he is slowly, relently dealing out to Tammany, in Manhattan. Sutherland represents the old machine tactics of the Boss McCooey days. That means cold, practical politics, with no fancy pro bono publico nonsense. Mayor Bill was raised in that school, and he doesn't love his alma mater. He said, "Cashmore, not more cash!" And what he said went.

The Mayor has won over Ed Flynn, of the Bronx, who wasn't friendly, Jim Roe, of Queens, who was once against him, threw him a week-end fish-bake on Shelter Island, and they're buddies again. It may take him a few months, maybe a year, to run the current Tammany regime out. . . . Then he'll have his kind of support in all four major boroughs. . . . And Bill O'Dwyer will be King of New York.

Pretty good for an immigrant lad who, in 1910, threw his shovel on a coalpile here and went out with $18 to outfit himself from head to foot; who became a policeman, a magistrate, a judge, the District Attorney who was to eradicate Murder, Inc., then take leave to become a Brigadier General, sent by his Commander-in-Chief, F. D. R., to decide for him what we were to do with Italy. That was the high peak of Bill's life. All the rest is to him an anti-climax. . . . Cleaning up the biggest, richest, most complex city on earth is just a job. That job is—

To eradicate Political Murder, Inc.!

Ruby Keeler, once the dancing toast of Texas Guinan's, then Mrs. Al Jolson and a picture-star in her own right, is now a happy wife and mother of three lovely children, all born within about three years. . . . She divorced Jolson after 12 years and wed a man of her own age, Lt. Cmdr. Lowe. . . . They readopted the boy she and Jolson had adopted, now 11, renamed and christened him Albert Lowe. . . . They live on a 10-acre ranch near Van Nuys, Calif., are well-to-do, though not affluent. . . . Ruby misses neither Jolson's millions nor the rich rewards and adulation of stardom. . . . She is radiantly happy and just as pretty and winsomely dainty as she ever was—110 pounds. . . . Mary Lucas Crawford, who danced with her in Guinan's, has just returned from a visit with Ruby. . . . Mary, too, married a millionaire—Bobby Crawford, music publisher, who died five years ago. . . . And she, too, is still a beauty.

Paul Gerard Smith reminds me that Murray Garsson, years ago, "angled" a musical show, "Ching a Ling," with an all-Oriental cast. It never got to Broadway, but expired in a burg that was to hear more about Garsson—Washington. . . . The show got back to New York by floating a check at the Willard hotel—a pogo on the Bank of Para. Garsson then had an insurance office on Fifth Ave., across from the Library, that looked like the one Nicholas Nickleby worked in. . . . He hadn't yet met a congressman.

Janvaltin, author of the Soviet-searing "Out of the Night," is back, out of uniform. . . . His new book, "Children of Yesterday," will go on display this week, issued by Readers Press. . . . Valtin wrote it by bits and drabs, in South Pacific jungles and fox-holes, carried it through two invasions and several preliminary campaigns. . . . He finished it in the Philippines and, himself at the controls, flew it to Manila, where he had it typed and shipped to Washington, to be censored. . . . Written under gunfire and during typhoons, the precious script was flown thousands of miles safely—then was lost in Washington. . . . But he had the hand-written original, which he had carried in his jungle-pack, half way around the world. . . . He turned that in, and, since he had become a civilian, it went to press uncensored!

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—There are confusion and conflict in the intelligence from Arizona. One day, William Houston Johnson, the, or ye, editor and publisher of the Tucson Citizen, reports that the drought is so bad that the basins of some of the big reservoirs are just nothing but mud flats and speculates morosely on the prospects of another dust bowl.

Then it comes on to rain two inches in Tucson between Saturday and Monday. At Miami they get 2.25 inches in an hour and about three feet of rocks and muck in Turkey Shoot canyon road.

The lightning and wind mess up the power and telephone lines, but William Houston Johnson he just sets back on his philosophy and says, well, which would you rather have, a little outage, as the linemen call these interruptions, and drive careful lest you slew in the goo and plenty of water for later, or less, or none, of both?

* * *

That whole part of our country, including a lot of West Texas, is feeling its oats and some people are talking up a great future for the desert and the green valleys, while others, mostly middling-well-to-do natives, keep saying it is overcrowded already.

One hunch wants to gather up a pot of money and go in for "coordinated tourist advertising" and develop small industries, such as curb-service chickenburger stations and tourist camps, I suppose, and the others ask what they want to go and do that for?

With or without advertising the country is bound to grow and, while I wouldn't undertake to find jobs for the new people, my observation in Florida gives me to believe that they will get along all right. A fellow with a rather sallow disposition said, yes, go ahead and lure a lot of underprivileged down there from other parts of the country to live on crumbs from the tables of the rich.

But few of those who go to Florida for their winter vacations are rich, the great majority being employes back north who save up for those two weeks or so, yet, in the aggregate, they spend enough to provide a pretty good, steady living for the permanent population. Anyway, I say, it is a shame to waste that climate in the winter on just a few and, like it or not, more population is coming and they will stick it out and change the country.

Last winter, young Bill Veeck bobbed up running a dude ranch way out near Lost Cavern and here lately he bobbed up again buying the Cleveland ball club and now he is talking of bringing the team to Tucson to train next winter.

Phoenix is trying to get the Giants or the Yankees and Major League Farms might start up a new little league of farm clubs in Arizona. I think the winter weather would be a little off just right for training major league teams, but I am speaking from memory of Florida and possibly, by afternoon, it would be warm enough in Arizona even on the cool days. They would seldom be rained out as we often were in Shreveport and New Orleans in seasons before most of the majors and high minors decided that there was no sense in trying to find a climate as reliable as Florida's.

There is room and a living for a lot of new people in the desert, the valleys, the mountains and the towns of Arizona. We just aren't making full use of the glorious United States of A. But of course, the pioneers didn't ask about the schools and the bus service and after all, this is mostly still frontier.

Hal Boyle — Globe-Jotting

By JAMES DEVLIN
(For Hal Boyle)

ESSEN, Germany—(AP)—Herr Stephan Dolata, Ruhr coal miner, used to weigh 170 pounds.

He weighs 120 pounds now. He gets the rations of a heavy worker, but he turns most of them over to his wife and their two sons, 11 and eight years old. All four sleep in the same bed in their one-room "home," about 15 square feet in the basement of a brick building that formerly was a vegetable storage house.

The Dolatas' living quarters were described by a British officer as "about average" for miners' families in this bomb-wrecked Ruhr industrial city. Some families fare better, some worse.

What Dolata and his fellow miners need—if they are to increase the output of Ruhr coal needed for next winter in Europe—is more food and homes.

In this they are backed up by British officials of the north German coal commission.

* * *

"It is understandable," said one, "for people to say 'the Germans started the war; let them starve.' But this isn't a case of pitying the Germans. It is just one of the ironies of war that if we are to have coal from German mines we must have miners who are fit to mine it."

* * *

At the Dolata home Frau Johanna Dolata apologized, not for its scant furnishings or the cramped room, but because she just had washed the cement floor and it still was wet. The place had one door and one window.

Frau Dolata displayed her furnishings: one bed, a small stove which burns either wood or coal, two portable wooden closets, one wicker chair, two boxes that serve as chairs, a couple of pictures on the wall and a vase of blue and white flowers on the window sill.

That was about the extent of their belongings. The Dolatas twice were bombed out of previous homes.

"How do four persons sleep in one bed?"

She smiled and shrugged.

"What do you do for food?"

Frau Dolata, a gaunt, blonde woman, put her hand to her head and laughed heartily.

"Nicht," she said, using the German word that sounds like "nix" and means about the same.

It's not quite that bad. Her husband, as a heavy worker, gets between 3,000 and 3,500 calories a day. Frau Dolata and the children are supposed to get about 1,000 calories, the normal ration.

She contended, however, that because of a lack of potatoes and cereals those on normal rations actually get about 700 calories a day.

At this lower rate the combined rations of husband, wife and children would be 3,600 calories a day, or 1,400 each, but it isn't divided that way. Most of the family's rations go to the children, who also get food at school.

"My husband," she said, "lives almost entirely on three sandwiches a day he gets at the mine."

AVERT STRIKE OF TRUCKERS IN MANSFIELD

Union, Firms Get Together on 15-Cent Increase to Keep 80 Workers on Jobs.

A threatened strike of some 80 city truck drivers and warehouse platform workers, called for midnight tonight, was averted yesterday afternoon when eight trucking companies agreed to a new two-year contract calling for a wage raise of 15 cents per hour, it was announced today.

Jay L. Stover, president of Local 40, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffers, Warehousemen and Helpers, (AFL), said the agreement came yesterday in a meeting at the Southern hotel between himself and Rudy Schneider, secretary of Local 40, and Norman Aiken and L. D. Miller, representing the trucking firms.

"We had asked for 19 cents and got 15. The companies began their offers at five cents. We're satisfied with the settlement," Stover said.

Included in the agreement, which is expected to be signed by the representatives next week, is a provision that wages will be renegotiated a year from today. Conditions of employment will remain unchanged during the life of the new contract, it was said.

Get Vacations.

The contract will also call for a second week of paid vacation, compared with only one week of paid vacation now in effect. The settlement concludes two months' of negotiations during which Alex T. Pinkney, commissioner of conciliation of the U. S. department of labor, participated, Stover said.

Companies represented in the settlement are CCC Highway, Norwalk Truck Lines, Commercial Motor Freight, Akron-Chicago Transportation, Michigan Motor Freight Lines, Motor Cargo, M and H Transportation, and All States, Inc.

Aiken is personnel manager of the Commercial Motor Freight and Miller is vice president in charge of operations of CCC Highway, it was said.

TELLS COUNTY NOT TO WORRY

Owner of TB Hospital Says Commissioners Won't Have to Vacate Now.

Richland county is safe from eviction from the building housing its tuberculosis sanatorium, County Commissioner C. L. Shoup said Mrs. Barbara J. Nichols, administratrix of the estate which owns the building, has promised.

Commissioners met with Mrs. Nichols yesterday in an effort to solve the county's position as the renter of the building. Mrs. Nichols has informed them she wants to sell her property instead of leasing it again.

"She said she would renew the lease again if nothing else can be done, but she prefers to sell and get the property off her hands. If she can sell and have the new owner lease it to us until we can get into our new hospital, it will be the best solution of the problem," Shoup said.

The county at present has no legal title to use of the building since the previous two-year lease expired July 21. Commissioners hope to continue using it until their new $300,000 sanatorium is in operation.

STEP UP FIGHT

Chinese Communists Direct Verbal Fire at Marshall.

NANKING—(AP)—Chinese communists, rejecting Chiang Kai-shek's peace program, today stepped up their assaults in the north and turned their verbal fire upon General Marshall, U. S. Peace Envoy.

The Communists' Emancipation Daily, published at their Yenan headquarters, declared flatly that Marshall was "not above blame for the failure to cease hostilities in China."

Government dispatches received in Peiping said reinforced communist troops stepped up their assaults on besieged Taiung and Yehsien in North Shansi province. Other Red forces opened a large scale offensive on the Shantung-Honan border and were reported advancing against the Lunghai railway.

Sales Tax Revenue Shows Big Increase

Following the Ohio trend, sales tax revenue in Richland county during the week ended Aug. 3 forged far ahead of receipts for the corresponding week last year to bring the total for 1946 to $583,721, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported today.

Retail sales in the county during the first week of August brought $25,944 in sales tax revenue as compared with $17,835 in that week last year. Revenue to Aug. 3 this year topped the figure for a similar period last year by $172,557.

In the state, receipts climbed to $56,080,834 by Aug. 3, an all-time high. Last year revenue to Aug. 3 amounted to $40,527,627.

LORAIN—(AP)—Acceptance of a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase by about 70 members of the Amalgamated Association of Electric Street Railway and Motor Coach employes (AFL) yesterday ended the threat of a bus strike here.

City, County Schools Need 12 Teachers For New Term

With the first classes scheduled to convene in less than a month Mansfield and Richland county schools were still in need of 12 teachers, school officials reported today. Eight of the vacancies are in the county schools and four are in the city.

"Normally we have all positions filled by this time," W. L. Miller, superintendent of city schools, said today.

Boyd Robinson, superintendent of the county schools, blamed the housing shortage as one reason for the scarcity of teachers.

The Mansfield schools are still in need of an elementary physical education teacher, a regular elementary teacher, a machine shop teacher for vocational department and another vocational teacher.

Richland county rural schools need three vocational home economic teachers, one each at Butler, Union and Plymouth, one general home economic teacher at Shiloh, one Latin-English teacher at Shiloh, a commercial teacher at Shiloh, a sixth grade teacher at Shiloh, and a math-science teacher at Butler.

One of the county school vacancies was filled today when Marianna Russell of Marion returned a signed contract to teach English and commercial subjects at the Lucas school, Robinson said.

Elsewhere in Ohio the teacher shortage was reported as critical. Subjects in which the shortage is particularly severe are industrial arts, home economics, and music.

Harold J. Bowers, teacher education and certification supervisor in the state education department, announced that there still are 2,031 vacancies in school systems throughout the state.

Of the 2,031 vacancies, 1,532 are in rural schools, 316 in city systems and the remaining 183 in exempted village districts.

During the summer months approximately 1,845 certified instructors have left school systems for various reasons. Of these, 270 explained they were accepting better paying jobs in business and industry, 14 others entered the armed forces, 331 retired, 558 left because of marriage, 27 died and 915 more gave various other reasons.

The state supervisor placed both the housing shortage and low salaries at the top of the list of factors contributing to the teacher shortage.

Save 2 Boys Swept Into Lake On Raft

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind.—(AP)—Two Chicago boys were recuperating from the effects of being tossed about Lake Michigan for seven hours on a rubber life boat.

Gilbert Schwartz, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Schwartz, and Walter Kaiser, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Kaiser, were rescued last night by coast-guardsmen. The boys, who were spending the summer here with their families, launched the raft and were only 200 yards from the shore when a strong breeze swept them out in the lake.

Central park's flag pole has a new copper chain and once again Old Glory flies over downtown Mansfield. But it took Robert Linn, an employe of the Mansfield Structural and Erecting company, three tries before he scaled the 102-foot pole when he first scampered to the top of the fire department's 85-foot ladder, he found he was still 17-feet short of the pole's top. He tried once, and then again, to shinny up the last 17 feet. But no go. So down he came for an extension ladder to fasten to the top of the aerial. It worked, though Linn still had to "shin" up the swaying pole's final seven feet. With the new chain through the pulley atop the pole, the flag was raised on V-day plus a year at 2:20 p. m. as hundreds watched from cars, buildings and the ground.

WANT TO VOTE?—

Although most of Richland county's men and women of the armed forces have returned to their homes by now, one year after the end of the war, many are still returning and those of Mansfield and Madison township must register with the board of elections if they are not already registered and want to vote in the general election Nov. 5. That was the message of Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel who reminded the county board of elections of the registration requirement. Deadline for registration is Oct. 7. Walter Underwood, deputy clerk of the board of elections, said former servicemen and women have been registering at the rate of one or two a day. Those who live outside Mansfield or Madison township are not required to register.

SUBDIVISIONS TO GET FUNDS IN TWO WEEKS

Auditor to Allocate Real Estate Money to City, Rural Subdivisions.

Distribution of $1,452,156 in real estate taxes, collected by County Treasurer C. C. Payne during June and July, will be made to governmental subdivisions of the county during the last week of August, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe reported today.

Payne's certification of the official collection figures to Wolfe showed that taxes amounting to 96 per cent of the total charge, which includes 1945 levies and delinquent charges totaling $1,511,283, had been paid.

Of the $1,452,156 collected, $1,402,693 is in real estate taxes and $49,462 in special assessments. This compares with comparable 1944 figures of $1,452,867, $1,399,179 and $53,388.

Property owners in Mansfield accounted for $835,891—$797,538 in real estate levies and $38,353 in special assessments—of the $1,452,156 collection total, Payne reported.

Delinquencies totaling $67,871 showed a net reduction of $7,258 after the treasurer collected $22,803 on the old delinquent charge and some $15,543 in 1945 levies remained unpaid after the July 20 payment deadline.

Meanwhile, Wolfe reported that seven school districts had been granted $178,000 in advances on the tax collection. Most of the advances were for operating expenses.

Receiving advances, and their amounts, were:

Mansfield school district, $140,000, of which $15,000 was to be used for bond retirement; Shiloh, $3,000; Lexington, $3,000; Union Rural, $4,500; Springfield, $7,500; Shelby, $12,000, and Lucas $8,000.

Safety Cab Loses 15-Inning Game In District Tourney

Hal Clawson

I managed to find time yesterday (but how I don't know) to set in on my first Cleveland Indians game since Bill Veeck and associates took over the club.

It was "Hank Edwards day" and the former Mansfield Braves outfielder did all right for himself in the way of gifts. They came from Norwalk—the home town of the slugging outfielder.

A number of other Mansfielders were in the stands yesterday as the Tribe edged the Detroit Tigers in 12 innings, 6-5.

Everything about the present setup is a boost for the people who pay the freight—the baseball fans of northern Ohio. Here are some of the things noticed by this scribe:

From the time you entered League park and until you left there was always courteous treatment extended the fans by the ushers and ticket takers.

Veeck has had his crew of ushers all outfitted in brand new uniforms and they are all neat and clean.

Rest rooms have been cleaned up.

* * *

And then there's that swing band that occupies a spot in deep centerfield. The band beats out with popular songs before the game and between innings.

* * *

Also added to the Cleveland roster are the game's two clowns —Johnny Price and a double-jointed fellow by the name of Patkin.

Price's antics are entertaining since he does just about everything that seems impossible such as catching and throwing back a baseball while standing on his head, catching balls thrown at his head from behind while lying flat on his back and hauling in fly balls while patroling the outfield in a jeep.

Patkin, who looks something like a giraffe, amused the fans with his funny motions. He took his turn in the first base coaching box when the Indians rallied for two runs in the eighth frame.

Those are a few of the things you find now when you attend a ball game in League park or the stadium. And those are just what the people want.

Bullpen Hurlers Keep Dodgers On Top NL

By JOE REICHLER, AP Sports Writer.

There is no mystery about what's keeping the Brooklyn Dodgers at the head of the National league—it's their bullpen hurlers.

This becomes more apparent day by day. Of the club's 110 games this season, the relief corps has come to the starting pitchers' rescue 74 times and has emerged with 25 victories against only 10 defeats besides "saving" 13 other games.

The brilliant work done by the Dodger relief corps is best illustrated by the won and lost record of Hugh Casey, whose 10 victories, all gained in relief roles, is second only to starter Vic Lombardi's 11 triumphs.

Brooklyn starting pitchers, who have completed only 36 games, or less than one third of their starts, needed help only once in yesterday's 8-4 and 2-1 victories over the New York Giants. The two triumphs increased the league leaders' margin over the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals to one and a half games. The Cards won their game from the Cubs 6-4 in Chicago

Hank Behrman represented the bullpen brigade with a scoreless four and two-thirds mound stint to receive credit for his eighth victory in the first game, his third in a relief assignment. Southpaw Joe Hatten needed no assistance in winning the night contest, the second half of an unprecedented afternoon-night doubleheader, the first of its kind in the major leagues.

* * *

With separate admission prices charged for each game, a total of 57,224 cash customers turned out at Ebbets field to boost the Brooklyn home attendance to a record 1,236,161. The former mark of 1,214,910 was made in 1941, the last time the Dodgers won a pennant.

* * *

The Boston Red Sox continued their pennant parade with a 3-1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, their 13th victory in 15 games with the American league cellar-dwellers.

Floyd Bevens, giant New York righthander, also notched his 13th victory when he pitched the Yankees to a 4-1 triumph over the Washington Senators.

Manager Lou Boudreau rapped out four hits including two doubles, his second two-bagger, helped by an outfield error, bringing in Heinz Becker from first with the run that gave the Cleveland Indians a 12-inning 6-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers

The Boston Braves went over the .500 mark for the first time since May 25 when Mort Cooper pitched them to a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Nick Strincevich pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to their fifth straight victory and only a game and a half out of seventh place as the Bucs shaded the Cincinnati Reds 3-2.

The St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

Suggs, Babe Win Easily

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., and Mrs. Mildred (Babe Didrikson) Zaharias of Denver rated as stronger favorites than ever today as the 46th annual women's Western Amateur Golf championship tournament entered the quarter finals.

Louise and Babe were in opposite brackets and couldn't meet until the finals, and there wasn't a player in today's eight-girl field conceded a chance of upsetting these two veteran and oft-crowned champs.

Louise, who scarcely has been in the rough during three days of firing over the Country Club's 6,500-yard course, clashes with Rosann Shaffer in the top bracket opener, but the 18-year-old Toledoan wasn't expected to trouble the Western Open champ much in her drive for her seventh major links title of the season.

Babe was teamed with Mrs. Eddie Bush of Detroit.

Mary McMillin, the 19-year-old darkhorse from Green Bay, Wis., meets youthful Carol Diringer of Findlay, O., in another lower bracket match, while Eileen Stulb of Augusta, Ga., pairs with Jean Hopkins of Cleveland in the other top bracket go.

Chandler Refuses To Lift Ban On Five-Year Suspension

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Mickey Owen's jaunt south of the border threatened today to end his ten-year baseball career.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler last night refused to lift the five-year suspension imposed on the former Brooklyn catcher and all other American ball-players who jumped their contracts to take fat jobs with the Mexican league.

Owen insisted, nevertheless, that he would not go south again, and since he will be 35 and past his prime when the suspension ends, it looks like Mickey is through.

But Mickey refused to give up hope. Conceding that he was "set" financially as a result of his Mexican adventure, he said he hoped the whole thing would blow over soon, or that Brooklyn would find some loophole to get him back. Meantime, he said he'd work on his Springfield, Mo., farm.

Owen hopped to Mexico, despite a Brooklyn contract, after his release from the navy early this year. Chandler suspended him May 9 but Mickey, fed up with Mexican baseball, last week asked the Commissioner to let him come back.

"Earlier this year," Chandler ruled after citing Mickey's appeal, "Player Owen and other players who jumped their contracts or otherwise violated their obligations to professional baseball clubs were suspended by the commissioner for a period of five years.

"No good reason has been shown to the commissioner why this penalty should be lessened or modified."

Chandler's ruling was announced at his office here while the commissioner himself was enroute to Wichita, Kas.

In Columbus, O., meantime, came the disclosure that Chandler had abandoned the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis' theory that racing and baseball don't mix.

John W. Galbreath of Columbus announced that Chandler had raised no objection to his owning a racing stable. Bing Crosby, another of the Pirates' new owners, sold his turf interests this spring.

Galbreath said he had talked to Chandler and the commissioner "gave me to understand that people who were strangers to him coming into baseball would stand on their own merit; that they might be interested in race horses would not necessarily prevent their entrance into the game although how they were interested in it might"

Nation's Top Turfman Dies

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—(AP)—Col. E. R. Bradley, the sportsman, died early today at his Idle Hour farm at Lexington, Ky., C. B. Shannon, his business associate announced.

Bradley, whose horses have won four Kentucky Derbies, was conscious to the last, Shannon said. He was 86 years old.

Bradley was called "the nation's premier turfman." Thoroughbred racing was his hobby and his horses won almost every major stake in America. His famed Idle Hour farm was considered a model breeding establishment.

He amassed a fortune in real estate and owned investments and from the income from an elaborate casino at Palm Beach, Fla.

Bradley suffered a heart attack in 1940, and shortly thereafter began disposing of his horses.

Bradley was the first owner to send four winners across the line in the Derby. Twice his entries ran one, two.

Behave Yourself and Black Servant, both bearing the green and white silks of the Bradley stables, ran one, two in 1921 to give him his first winner.

Bubbling Over and Bagenbaggage finished first and second in 1926 to repeat the feat for Bradley. Bradley won with Burgoo King in 1932, and came back the next year to capture the rich prize with Broker's Tip.

Two Semi-Final Tilts Set For Tonight

MARION—Mansfield's Safety Cabs were eliminated from the sixth district softball tournament here last night by Universal Cooler of Marion in a 15-inning game, 4-3.

This marathon tilt was definitely of championship caliber as both clubs battled for more than two hours to get a spot in the semi-finals tonight.

In the first game last night Strine's Service Station of Ashland pounded out a 21-1 victory over a highly-rated Carey Merchants nine.

Mansfield's lone survivor in the tourney, Barnes Manufacture, goes against Smitty's Grill in the first game tonight starting at 8 o'clock.

Strine's and Universal Cooler meet in the second game.

The two winners meet in the championship game tomorrow night starting at 9 o'clock.

Kenny Windsor went the full 15 innings for the Cabs and was nicked for 11 hits while the Mansfield nine was getting but six off Kunkle.

Cooler scored quick as Paulus, the first man up in the first inning, slammed a home run to deep center field.

* * *

Boyd and Hipp tallied Mansfield's two runs in the last of the second on two hits and an error in right field.

* * *

Bill McCarrick doubled for the Cabs in the fourth and plated on Massa's single to give his team a 3-1 lead.

Safety held the Cooler scoreless until the seventh and Windsor had allowed but five hits. Two walks in this frame and then a double by Paulus sent in two runs and the game was tied up.

For the next seven innings neither team could push over a run.

Kanz reached first in the eighth when he was hit by a pitched ball, was sacrificed to second and went to third on a passed ball.

McCarrick then rifled a ball back through the box that hit the base umpire on the foot. Kanz was unable to come in on the play due to the rule governing a ball hitting an umpire

Safety went down one, two, three the rest of the way.

In the 15th, R. Everly blasted a home run to deep right center and that meant the ball game for the Coolers.

* * *

Strine's picked up their runs in fours last night chasing over a quartet in all but the second and sixth frames. The odd run came in the second.

Plank and Ziemke combined to hurl a one-hitter with the lone Carey run coming in the second inning on a triple and an infield out.
